100 Dead In Bombay Train Jam Commuters Are Trapped in Cars

BOMBAY (AP) — At least 100 Indians were feared killed today and 120 injured when two suburban trains jammed with commuters crashed together in a Bombay suburb.

Five hours after the early morning collision, railway officials announced 52 bodies had been counted and there were 106 injured so far.

Traffic on the city's railways, which carry two million persons daily, was disrupted while doctors, firemen and police struggled through the wreckage to rescue trapped commuters. Each train reportedly carried more than 1,500 passengers.

Firemen used blowtorches to cut their way into twisted aluminum coaches in which men, women and schoolchildren were trapped.

The accident was thought to be the worst in western India's rail history. It occurred near a grade crossing north of Matunga Station, nine miles from Victoria Station in downtown Bombay.

At Rush Hour

The collision occurred at the 7 a.m. rush hour. One train bound from Victoria to Thana Junction, 20 miles to the north, was being switched to another track. The other train was en route to the central terminal.

The impact sent the first three cars of one train off the tracks.

Service on the central railway was stopped at once, halting movement to Madras, Calcutta and New Delhi.

Thousands of persons rushed to the crash scene in a crowded residential area while hundreds of police tried to cordon off the area.

The first carriage of the Thana-bound train was the worst hit. Most of the occupants were women, including scores of vegetable vendors.

The Municipal General Hospital at nearby Sion was set apart for accident casualties and closed to other admissions while the Indian navy's Shore Hospital rushed 100 doctors and nurses to Matunga to treat the injured.

Victoria Terminus platforms, nine miles from the accident spot, were soaked with blood as dozens of casualties were brought for admission to the Downtown Hospital.

Slate Arterial Route Topic for Merchants Group

An agenda of important business will face the members of the Ulster Business Men's Association 8 p. m. Tuesday at Cyrus Inn.

Among the important matters to be brought before the meeting by President Ronald Every will be a discussion regarding the location of the proposed arterial route through the area from Route 32 to Route 199 at the Cloverleaf on Route 9W.

To Divert 9W

According to the proposed plan Route 9W will be diverted at the cloverleaf to the left at the Caldor shopping center to Neighborhood Road. This change in alignment of Route 9W has become a very controversial issue among the merchants in the area.

There will also be a report by the Transportation committee on a proposed "shop and ride" promotion. Since the inception of bus service to the shopping area, a "shop and ride" promotion has been discussed. The plan is to have business men of the area issue transportation tickets at a (Continued on Page 28, Col. 8)

Rockefeller Mediates N.Y. City Tax Deadlock

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller served as host and self-styled mediator today at a summit meeting bringing together Mayor John V. Lindsay and the Legislature's leaders in an all-out effort to break the New York City tax deadlock.

Lindsay, Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia and Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges were on notice from Rockefeller to prepare for "continuing sessions" as they converged on Albany for the closed-door conference in the Executive Mansion.

City Council President Frank D. O'Connor, a potential Democratic nominee for governor, also was among the "big name" participants.

The Republican governor's avowed aim was to keep the parley going "until this matter is successfully resolved through agreement."

Settlement of the dispute would pave the way for adjournment of the 1966 session of the Legislature this week.

As the Legislature prepared to begin its working week, Brydges said he hoped the Senate would act today on a variety of Republican bills designed to tighten the state's controversial new medical-aid law.

Technically, the measures are not supposed to be ready for a vote until Tuesday. But Brydges said he could bring them up for action a day in advance, with unanimous consent of the members of his house.

Although Democrats say they will oppose any changes that might make the medical-aid program more conservative, they were expected to extend (Continued on Page 27, Col. 6)

To Discuss Greater Use of TB Hospital

A plan for full utilization of the county TB Hospital as a county infirmary without transferring facilities for the care of TB patients will reflect in a saving of nearly a half million dollars, was announced today.

The proposal will be made tonight at a meeting of Ulster

County Board of Health, according to Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson.

Tells of Parley

Assemblyman Wilson stated today that he had met with Supervisor Charles Relyea, chairman of the Board of Supervisors; Supervisor Peter J. Savago, majority leader of the board, and Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons of the County Welfare Department to discuss a proposed change in the facilities of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital in Kingston.

According to Assemblyman Wilson it was generally agreed that the full capacity of the hospital is not being used, and that steps should be initiated to (Continued on Page 27, Col. 8)

Kingston Boy's Drowning Listed Among 23 Weekend Deaths in State

Twenty-three persons were victims of sudden deaths in New York State between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Sunday, including a 16-year-old Kingston boy who accidentally drowned in the Esopus Creek at Glenier Lake Park, according to The Associated Press.

Authorities throughout the area investigated a rash of traffic accidents, an accidental shooting and other incidents over the weekend.

Sixteen of the 23 fatalities in the state involved traffic accidents, three perished in a fire and three others died as a result of other types of mishaps.

Victim of the drowning which occurred at about 4:40 p. m. Sunday was Michael Arthur Bailey, of 194 Tremper Avenue, city.

Ulster County Coroner William S. Keyser investigated with Kingston State Police BCI investigator Richard Ryan, Sgt. Joseph Ellsworth and uniformed trooper. The coroner gave a ruling of accidental death from asphyxia due to submersion.

Bailey and his brother, Joseph, 14, and three young friends were swimming in the creek during the afternoon. They entered the water from the west bank and started to swim across the creek, some 200 feet. Bailey was about three-quarters of the way across the creek when he turned and started back to the starting point.

Trooper Norman Kilfoyle said Bailey was about 15 feet off the west bank when he began struggling and sank below the surface. The others hurried for shore and shouted for help.

Kingston State police and personnel from Ulster Hose Co. 5 went to the scene with the fire department boat. The body was recovered in about eight feet of water by William Steuding of 79 Grant Street, this city, at about 6 p. m.

ROUTE 212 SMASHUP—Michael Stock, 18, of Box 74, Lake Hill, remained in serious condition today in Kingston Hospital where he was taken by Doctors' ambulance after two-car accident about 1:15 a. m. Saturday on Route 212 in Shady, a short distance from intersection of Route 375. State Police said that youth was driving west on 212 when his vehicle failed to negotiate a left curve, went into north shoulder of road and struck parked car owned by Jane Axel of Route 212, Shady. Impact caused the parked car to roll over. Stock's vehicle continued some distance and came to halt in road. Collision sheared off right side of driver's car. Stock suffered severe concussions, Trooper Carl Van Wagenen of Lake Katrine substation, investigated. Accident was one of an unusual number of early weekend mishaps which resulted in death and injury. Three persons were killed, 16 were injured and a number of others escaped injury in motor vehicle accidents Friday and early Saturday in the Ulster-Dutchess county area.

13th MIG Destroyed In Viet Air Battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A U. S. Navy pilot destroyed the 13th Communist MIG of the war in an air battle between the key North Vietnamese cities of Hanoi and Haiphong Sunday and narrowly missed getting a second. But two U. S. planes were lost in new air attacks against the Communist north today.

The political kettle boiled again in South Viet Nam when Buddhist demonstrators swept through the streets of Saigon and riot police responded with clouds of tear gas. The disorder ended two weeks of comparative calm in the capital and followed a day of giant pro-government, anti-Communist demonstrations by Roman Catholics.

Scored Hit

Cmdr. Hal L. Marr, 40, of Roseburg, Ore., scored the hit on the MIG with his second heat-seeking Sidewinder in a numerically equal dogfight between four F8 Crusader jets from the carrier Hancock and four Soviet-designed MIGs.

A U. S. spokesman said the encounter occurred 31 miles northwest of Haiphong, North Viet Nam's main port, and 35 miles northeast of Hanoi, the capital.

The missile homed in on the MIG's hot tailpipe and destroyed it. Marr, commanding officer of Fighter Squadron 211 aboard the Hancock, attacked another MIG with his 20mm cannon and hit its right wing but ran out of ammunition before he could finish off the enemy plane. The damaged plane apparently limped home.

A twin-jet U. S. Air Force B57 Canberra fighter-bomber van-

Note Fallen Red Leaders Cast Ballots

MOSCOW (AP)—Two fallen leaders—Nikita Khrushchev and V.M. Molotov—were among the voters Sunday as the usual big turnout elected the unopposed candidates for the Soviet Parliament.

Khrushchev, 72, thinner and more subdued than in his last public appearance 15 months ago, smiled as he cast his ballot for the man who replaced him as premier, Alexei N. Kosygin.

Admits Illness

"Yes, I've been ill," Khrushchev told newsmen, "but everyone gets ill now and then." The former premier and Communist party chief was hospitalized last summer for kidney trouble.

His wife added that he "is feeling very well now." Khrushchev's appearance at a Moscow polling booth was clearly arranged by Communist officials to show the world that he

Riot Breaks Out In Puerto Rican Area in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Violent street fighting erupted in a predominantly Puerto Rican neighborhood on Chicago's North Side Sunday night after a policeman shot a Puerto Rican youth he said had threatened him with a gun.

The surging, rock-throwing mobs numbered more than 1,000, police said.

The rioters tipped a police car on its side and burned it. Another squad car was heavily damaged. Windshields of many more were broken by rocks and hurled pop bottles. Fire was started in another police car, but quickly extinguished.

By midnight at least two dozen persons had been injured and more than 30 jailed.

Police were pelted with rocks, bottles and debris as they tried to disperse the crowds in a 10-square-block area.

Gunfire, Looting

Sporadic gunfire could be heard and looting was reported in several shops.

Patrolman Thomas Munyon, 25, the officer who shot the youth, described the incident:

"My partner and I went into this alley to break up a fight. . . This guy started to pull a gun from under his shirt and I shot him. There were about 10 or 15 persons in the alley. . . so my partner and I put the wounded man into a car and got out of there."

The wounded man was identified as Cruz Arcelis, 20. Munyon, married and the father of two, said he fired four times and didn't know how many shots hit Arcelis.

After the incident aroused crowds poured into the streets and police canine squads were sent into the area.

A police dog bit Juan Melan, 20, and the crowd shouted approval. Melan was hoisted to the shoulders of friends and displayed to the crowd, then taken to a nearby hospital.

Start New Disorders In Saigon Buddhists Foment Demonstrations

SAIGON (AP)—Buddhist-inspired demonstrations swept the streets of Saigon anew today, ending two weeks of comparative peace in the riot-weary capital of South Viet Nam.

Steel-helmeted riot police deployed around the U. S. Embassy as crowds of demonstrators led by robed monks and nuns converged on the city's center.

Monks Arrested

A score of monks were arrested at the central market, and crowds fled before clouds of tear gas fired from grenade launchers.

The demonstrations were staged at the height of the evening rush hour.

As usual, the demonstrators marched out of the Buddhist Institute some two miles from the heart of the city. The institute has been the nerve center of all Buddhist agitation in Saigon.

One group succeeded in reaching the heavily guarded Gia Long Palace, the residence of the chief of state, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, whom the Buddhists want removed along with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

Charged Crowd

Riot police charged the crowd there, herding the monks into police vans. Youths were taken to police stations and police said they would be sent for induction into the army.

In scattered parts of the city police removed outside Buddhist family altars, put out in an emotional gesture of antigovernment protest.

To Air Board's Denial of Funds At Library Meet

A meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Kingston City Library was scheduled for noon today to discuss a recent decision of the Board of Education not to contribute to support of the library.

Last year the education board contributed $15,000 toward support of the library, but this year included no provision for partial support in its budget.

The library board is headed by Chester A. Baltz Jr., G. Herbert DeKay is vice president, Mrs. Ruth Clair, is secretary, and Mrs. Harold Davis, treasurer.

Other members are: Family Court Judge Hugh R. Elwyn; Mrs. Harry Gold; Amos R. Newcombe, Attorney S. James Matthews, and Robert B. O'Reilly.

The latter two were named recently to the board, Matthews to replace Dan H. Allen, local high school principal, and O'Reilly to succeed the late Frederick H. Stang, who had served as the city's mayor in the 1950's.

43,500 Have Applied For State Medical-aid

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — While critics of the state's new, controversial medical-aid program continue to rail at the plan's provisions, more than 43,500 New York State residents quietly have applied for coverage.

The State Social Welfare Department says that, in the month since enrollment was opened, about 12,500 applications have been received in Upstate areas and about 31,000 in New York City.

Through June 3 — the latest date for which figures are available — 29,278 applications were approved in New York City. Upstate, 2,160 received approval.

A department spokesman explained that the number of applications does not represent the total number of persons who would be covered if the applications were approved. The total would be higher, he said, because many applicants are heads of households.

Since the law to pay medical expenses of those deemed needy was passed six weeks ago, it has run into a storm of criticism — and some support.

Critics contend that the income-eligibility levels are too liberal and could cover too many persons—an estimated 8 million of the state's 18 million residents.

Further, they contend the expense will bring about higher state and local taxes. Critics also fear that the state will not receive federal funds at the predicted levels, raising costs even more.

Local medical societies have criticized the provisions for payment to doctors and dentists, and some county welfare com-

WASHINGTON (AP) — High administration officials believe expanding U. S. combat operations in Viet Nam may hasten a turning point in the war against Communist conquest in South Viet Nam.

A new tone of optimism is apparent in official comment here, although it is not universally shared. Some highly placed officials fear that the military gains now being registered may be frustrated by new political violence in South Viet Nam or by some strategic shift on the part of Communist forces.

Temporary Setbacks

However the dominant administration line as developed primarily by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and apparently supported by Secretary of State Dean Rusk is that political turmoil among the South Vietnamese this spring had caused only temporary — even though serious — setbacks to the anti-Communist fight and "substantial military progress" has been made in recent weeks.

In a joint news conference with Rusk at the White House Saturday, McNamara also told reporters that offensive operations by the United States, South Vietnamese and allied forces had frustrated plans of the Communist high command for a "monsoon offensive."

Other officials indicate that the total amount of damage which allied forces are now able to inflict on Communist forces is almost in balance with the gains which the Communists are able to make by way of infiltration of troops from North Viet Nam and recruitment in the south.

Sent 19,000

Administration officials have claimed that in the first four months of this year — January through April — the North Vietnamese sent 19,000 men through the jungle roads and trails into South Viet Nam — an average of about 4,700 a month. In the same period about 14,000 fighters are estimated to have been added to Viet Cong forces through recruitment in the south. The gross gain from the two sources totaled about 33,000.

For the same period of four months more than 16,000 Communist fighters are reported to have been killed in action with other thousands wounded, captured or defected to South Viet Nam. U. S. officials estimate that Communist losses from all these sources totaled more than 30,000 and that even with errors in all statistics, the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese total gains and total losses must be approaching a point of balance.

They regard this as an important measure of progress because a critical point in the war, from the administration view, is (Continued on Page 27, Col. 4)

Congress Leaders Course for Week Covers Big Range

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Congress follows the course charted by its leaders, this could be one of its busiest weeks of the year.

Scheduled for action in both branches is an assortment of legislation dealing with a wide range of subjects including prevention of cruelty to animals and the expenditure of billions of dollars.

As usual the program for the start of the week is light.

The House considers today bills to boost the amount of funds that may be issued by the Tennessee Valley Authority and to broaden the Foreign Service Building Act. The Senate schedule calls for action on several private bills.

Later in the week, with no definite timetable worked out, the Senate may act on House-passed bills boosting the national debt ceiling; appropriating funds to finance the Agriculture, Labor and Health, Education (Continued on Page 28, Col. 7)

Khrushchev Briefly Emerges From Obscurity to Cast Vote

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — A chunky, bald man, showing his 72 years, drove up to a Moscow voting place in a chauffeur-driven car with his wife and a bodyguard, cast his ballot, and left without cheers or catcalls.

Sunday was the first time Nikita Khrushchev, living on a pension now, had appeared in public since he voted last year. He is as close to being anonymous as the present Soviet leaders can make him.

Appears Harsh
Being forced to live out his life in obscurity, since the new bosses banded him as the No. 1 man in October 1964, may seem harsh. But almost certainly it is more than Stalin would have permitted.

That he can go on living at all after losing in the Soviet power struggle is as good testimony as any to the change he wrought in the Soviet Union and, as a result, in the world.

Thus his present obscurity is only temporary, even though it lasts his lifetime. But his exact place in history is not at all certain since it will depend upon what eventually happens to communism.

He was not an innovator in the field of tangibles, like Stalin who drove and dragged the Soviet Union into the atomic and space age and, at frightful cost in lives and luxury, gave it industry.

In Field of Spirit
Khrushchev's contribution, over the 10 years in which he dominated most of communism, was in the field of the spirit, which may seem an odd word to associate with a man so earthy, tempestuous and unpredictable. Stalin was totally dedicated to the triumph of the Communist state, no matter the cost to the people in it. Khrushchev rendered such Red fanaticism ludicrous and obscene when he revealed Stalin as a monster and murderer.

Khrushchev didn't lessen the importance of the state. But he made life and people more important than Stalin could have imagined or tolerated by relaxing the cold war inside and outside of the Soviet Union.

Inside, the people, harassed less by the secret police, could breathe a little freer, could express a little discontent, even though timidly, while the state paid more attention to their needs and their comforts.

Unrest Bubbled
Outside, there were thunderclaps. Red China broke with the Kremlin. Unrest bubbled through the satellites and is not ended. There was an uprising in Poland. The revolt in Hungary was too much for Khrushchev, who crushed it. Communist parties in the non-Communist world were affected and Reds everywhere examined their old attitudes or adopted new ones.

Khrushchev sometimes stumbled, sometimes took wild chances and lost on them, as when he put missiles in Cuba. Yet through it all he melted the cold war a great deal, tried to get along better with the West, signed the limited nuclear test ban treaty and lived to see his successors follow much of his policy.

If he had been Stalin he would have been prepared when his friends, or enemies, turned on him and threw him out. He would have crushed them.

They accused him of mishandling the dispute with China, of mismanaging the Soviet economy, of bungling the Cuban crisis and even of supporting a "cult of personality."

Gave Them Something
He probably was a poor manager but at his particular moment in Soviet history he gave his people something that would have been inevitable sooner or later after the bleak and homicidal years of Stalin.

He gave them a strong change of spirit which his successors inherited. The Russian people are better off than they were, the split with China is deeper, and the cold war is still muted.

Two Hurt in Mishap
Two women were injured at 1 p. m. Saturday as the result of a two-car head-on collision which occurred on the Berne Road, Town of Wawarsing. State Police Sergeant Donald Paulson of Ellenville said the cars were operated by Idelle Wright, 43, of Berne Road, Ellenville, and William Anapell, 72, Wawarsing. The vehicles were going in opposite directions at the time of the crash. Injured were Cora Anapell, 66, who suffered shock, and Mary Mulford, 88, Wawarsing, who sustained abrasions of the left wrist and a bump on the head.

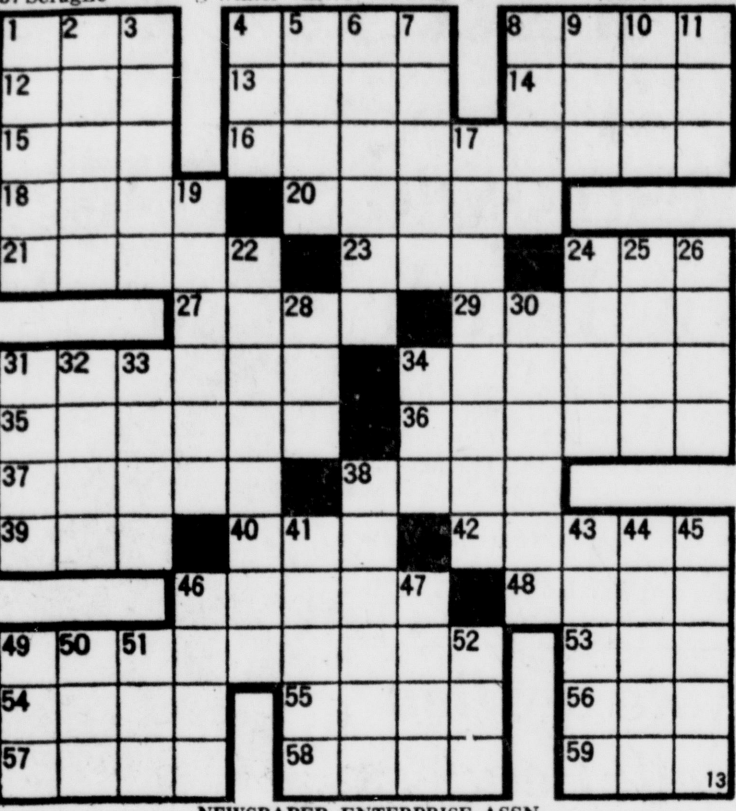

Bad Check Charge
Iona Worles, 36, of Monticello, was arrested Saturday by Ellenville state police on a charge of issuing a fraudulent check. Sergeant Donald Paulson said the woman made restitution, pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $50 by Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel, Town of Wawarsing.

For Students on To Study Rights Cornell Campus

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—A Cornell University commission will study social and living conditions at the university "to see that no student suffers discrimination."

Arthur H. Dean, chairman of the board, announced formation of the nine-member commission Sunday and said it had been asked to report to the trustees by October.

Dean said the group also would examine the role of fraternities and sororities at the university.

The faculty recently endorsed a policy of "disengagement" for the university from the fraternity and sorority system.

Social and living conditions of students have a "profound influence" on their education, Dean said.

"We are determined to make sure that there will be no needless trespassing on the rights of individuals and that Cornell students shall be free to make social choices which, in a democracy, are within the rights of all."

The commission members: Trustees — Adele Rogers of Bethesda, Md.; Alfred M. Saperston of Buffalo, N.Y.; and Charles Stewart of New York City.

Faculty — Dr. Edmund T. Cranch, professor of theoretical and applied mechanics, and Dr. Robin M. Williams, professor of sociology.

Administration — Mark Barlow, vice president of student affairs, and William Carmichael, dean of the graduate school of business and public administration.

Also, Dean and James A. Perkins, Cornell president, are commission members.

Phillips Family Fete

The 24th Phillips family reunion will be held Sunday at Sportsmen's Park, Rosendale.

The site is six miles south of Kingston on Route 32. Those attending will bring lunch. Swimming facilities are available.

Jury to Decide Ruby's Sanity

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The question of whether Jack Ruby was sane or insane when he killed Lee Harvey Oswald is to be decided by a district court jury this week.

The sanity hearing—first requested and then opposed by defense attorneys—gets underway today with the selection of a jury.

Ruby's lawyers, claiming their client's constitutional rights would be violated by having to present witnesses who might be called for a possible second murder trial, are expected to ask for a postponement. Judge Louis T. Holland indicated at a pretrial hearing Friday that he would not grant any delays.

Ruby, 55, former strip joint operator, is under the death penalty for killing Oswald, named by the Warren Commission as the assassin of President John F. Kennedy. The slaying in the basement of the Dallas police station occurred before a nationwide television audience Nov. 24, 1963.

After they were unsuccessful in forestalling the sanity hearing, two groups of lawyers, each representing Ruby, said they would not call their client to the stand nor would they present witnesses or evidence to support their earlier contentions he is insane.

One group is headed by Phil Burleson of Dallas, currently representing Ruby. The other is headed by Joe Tonahill of Jasper, named by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals to represent Ruby in the sanity hearing. Judge Holland said Friday he would recognize both groups.

The Court of Criminal Appeals ordered the sanity hearing May 18, saying it would not consider an appeal of his conviction until his mental condition had been determined.

Man Is Charged In Boating Mishap

CHICAGO (AP)—Charles R. Walgreen, 30, an heir to the drugstore chain, was free in $200 bail today on charges resulting from a boating accident in which a Rochester, N.Y., woman died.

Walgreen was charged with operating a boat recklessly after his cabin cruiser struck a breakwater and sank Friday. Miss Carol Smith, a passenger, was plunged into Lake Michigan and disappeared.

Divers found Miss Smith's body Sunday, lodged in the breakwater, about 10 feet underwater. Walgreen posted the bond Sunday.

Scouts Take Part In Council Fete

Boy Scouts from Troop No. 77 of New Paltz attended the 1966 Rip Van Winkle Council Camporee held in the Catskill Mountains at Camp Tri-Mount, East Jewett, on June 3-5. They took part in a weekend program which featured camping competition among the troops throughout the local council which is made up of Ulster and Greene Counties. Patrols from the troops were judged on their campcraft as well as their Scout teamwork.

Saturday the Scouts attended demonstrations of Scouting skills. One of the most interesting program on conservation was developed and presented by Selden Spencer of New Paltz, vice-chairman of the Minnewaska Trails District and a member of the faculty at the State University here. At Saturday night's campfire talented Scouts entertained over 600 who took part in the camporee. The Order of the Arrow conducted its annual tap-out in an impressive ceremony at the close of the campfire.

Sunday, the Scouts in their patrols presented their skills in demonstrations. The Scouts from Troop 77 showed knot-tying. At the closing ceremony on Sunday afternoon the Balden-Fowell Patrol from Troop 77 received a ribbon from award and merit. Among the Scouts who took part from Troop 77 were Jeff Ackery, Bob Sianmeyer, Tommy Thompson, Bruce Ackery, Hugh McLeod and Fred Sutter. Troop 77 is sponsored by the New Paltz Methodist Church and holds its meetings at 7:30 p.m. on Thursdays at the church.

Klan Chief to Stand Trial For Contempt of Congress

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP)—The government brings Ku Klux Klan leader Robert M. Shelton to trial in U.S. District Court here today in the first round of an attempt to convict seven Klan leaders on contempt of Congress charges.

Chief U.S. Dist. Judge Matthew F. McGuire was to designate a trial judge for the trial of Shelton, named by the House Committee on Un-American Activities as imperial wizard of the United Klans of America.

If convicted, he faces a fine of between $100 and $1,000 and a prison sentence of from one month to one year.

Lester V. Chalmers, Shelton's attorney, declined to say in advance whether he would ask for a delay in the trial.

Called 'Test Case'

The Shelton trial, which is expected to be short, is likely to serve as a test case for the trial of the six other Klan leaders scheduled this fall. All were cited for contempt by the House Feb. 2 and indicted a day later by a federal grand jury.

The contempt charges were brought on grounds the Klan officials refused to supply records and other documents to the Un-American Activities Committee during its four-month look last fall and winter into the Klan's secrets.

Shelton appeared before the Klan investigation subcommittee last Oct. 19 and 20. After he gave his name and place and year of birth—Tuscaloosa, Ala., June 1929—and said he had received a committee subpoena to testify Oct. 11, he refused about 100 times to answer questions.

Refused Details

In addition to questions relating to production of personal and organizational records and tax returns, as demanded in the committee's subpoena dated Oct. 7, Shelton on advice of his attorney refused to give details of Klan activities.

He cited four constitutional amendments and argued that the investigation went beyond the scope authorized by the House and was not intended for any valid legislative purpose.

The committee chairman, Rep. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., repeatedly warned Shelton he faced contempt action if he refused to answer. At the end of the second session, he again asked Shelton to produce the records. Shelton again refused. On Jan. 6 the subcommittee recommended the contempt citation against Shelton and the other six Klan leaders, limited to their refusal to produce the records rather than including their refusal to answer questions. On Jan. 13 the full committee approved the recommendation and the House approved the citations by a 344-28 roll call vote.

The other Klan leaders, who face trial at weekly intervals starting Oct. 3, are James R. Jones, grand dragon, realm of North Carolina; Robert E. Scoggin, grand dragon, realm of South Carolina; Calvin F. Craig, grand dragon of Georgia; Marshall R. Kornegay, grand dragon of Virginia; George F. Dorsett, imperial kludd and paid organizer and province titan of the realm of North Carolina; and Robert Hudgins, imperial kludd and exalted cyclops of the North Carolina Klavern, grand name of the Capital City Restoration Association.

TROUBLE WITH SHOTGUNS

The trouble with bullets—or shotgun pellets or any other instrument of violence—is that they may be able to kill people but they cannot kill ideas.

Surely men have spilled enough of each other's blood over the centuries to put this truth beyond question. Yet men continue to kill, or attempt to kill, out of hate and rage and frustration and the belief that if they end the physical existence of those they take to be their enemies they will also end the ideas that motivate them.

The idea being tested in America today is no newer than the idea that gave it birth—that all men are equal under the law, that all possess an inalienable right to their lives, their liberties and their individual pursuit of happiness wherever they may choose to live or walk abroad in this land.

This is the idea that motivated James Meredith. What went on in the mind of the man accused of wounding him from ambush on a road in Mississippi, we do not know. He is reported to have said he does not know himself why he did it.

We can surmise, however, that a smoldering resentment at what he considered to be a threat to his own rights and a feeling of impotence at being unable to do anything about this supposed threat erupted into the force that made him pull the trigger.

In so doing, he not only violated the fundamental law which makes civilized society possible. He disavowed allegiance to the fundamental belief on which this nation is based—the belief that the citizens of a democracy are capable of settling their differences through lawful procedures, that out of the give and take of rational discourse and argument and compromise the welfare of all will best be served.

There is tragedy enough in the fact there are still fear-ridden men who do not accept this belief, tragedy enough in the fact that there have been other brave men before Meredith who were not so lucky as he.

Even more tragic would be for the Negro community to allow itself to be brought down to the level of the roadside snipers and church bombers to meeting killing with killing and destruction with destruction, as far too many hotheads are advocating.

It would be tragic both for them and for the nation as a whole. It would mean that the haters of democracy are right after all. It would mean that James Meredith lived, but the idea that led him to walk along a road in Mississippi perished after all.

SAFE SNUGLING

Any idea that promotes both automobile safety and romance is sure to receive an interested hearing these days.

Warren C. Nelson, Ohio's director of state highway safety, advocates that installation of six pairs of seat belts—three in front and three in rear—be made mandatory in cars. (Ohio law now requires only two belts in the front.)

Nelson is particularly concerned about a third belt in the front seat because of the oft-observed proclivity of young ladies to snuggle up to their boy friends behind the wheel, as if attempting to disprove the physical law which says that two bodies cannot occupy the same space at the same time.

Obviously, a girl in this position is not making use of the seat belt on the passenger side. Thus an extra one next to the driver would protect her and abet her at the same time.

With the current trend toward bucket seats, often separated by that modern form of bundling board called the floor console, the safety official's solicitude for young love appears, alas, headed for obsolescence by the unsentimental designers of Detroit.

Well, the cold, unseasonable weather has come to an end in most places—just in time to let people complain about the heat.

HIS BROTHER'S KEEPER

A big play has been given the story about an 11-year-old boy in New York City who nearly burned to death while bystanders watched without helping. This may bring

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

JOHNSON SCORES OVER ALL HIS CRITICS

After a year of huffing and puffing by Cassandras at two ends of the political spectrum, a moderate, Joaquin Balaguer, finds himself President-elect in the Dominican Republic by a margin (58 per cent of the vote) that would be called a landslide had it happened in any U.S. or British election. The interesting thing is that Balaguer doesn't hate Yankees. His victory is thus a victory—and a vindication—for Lyndon Johnson. But who is apologizing to Johnson for calling him all sorts of names because of his policies toward Dominica during the past year? Nobody that I can see.

According to LBJ's numerous hecklers on the Left, the dispatch of the Marines to the Dominican Republic in April of 1965 was a terrible thing. In the name of combatting Castroism it had stopped a legitimate revolution that would have returned former President Juan Bosch to a power that was deemed rightfully his. The U.S. would surely pay the penalty for its identification with "fascism." Theodore Draper, Bosch's most fervent U.S. supporter, directly muttered that "someday the U.S. is going to need Bosch more than he needs us." Surely Lyndon Johnson would get his come-uppance for an "intervention" that could only be repudiated by every self-respecting nationalist in Latin America.

The LBJ hecklers on the Right took an equally critical view of Johnson's behavior. They condemned him for retreating all too hastily from his original show of force. The President, they said, had gone against his natural allies when he permitted the Marines to seize General Wessin y Wessin and bustle him out of the country. And they couldn't forgive the selection of Hector Garcia Godoy, a former Bosch supporter, as provisional President. The choice of this "Leftist" would assuredly end in a Communist takeover by one means or another. To begin with, he would purge all the important opponents of Bosch. And he would do nothing to recover the 8,000 weapons that had been distributed to Castroites and Communists in April of 1965. These weapons would be used to take a victorious Bosch captive, or to throw the nation into a bloody shambles in case the Right managed to win by a narrow margin at the polls. This columnist was among those fearful of Garcia Godoy's influence.

What neither set of critics envisaged was a relatively calm election which would produce a comparatively honest victory for the man who best symbolized a widespread desire for an interlude of stability. A group of U.S. observers, who included Norman Thomas and Victor Routhier, both of them Bosch supporters, could find no evidence of "mass frauds" in the big Balaguer vote. Apparently a big majority in Dominica has not resented the U.S.-Organization of American States intervention which forced Bosch to accept an ordeal by election.

So Lyndon Johnson has pulled this one out of the fire. By being forceful when it was necessary, and by shifting to meliorism when this seemed the politic thing to do, the canny LBJ has bought at least the promise of an interlude of peace in the Dominican Republic. The sacrificial goats in the deal are the recently resigned Assistant Secretary of State Thomas Mann, who advised LBJ to make sure the Communists had no chance to take over in Santo Domingo city a year ago, and the former Ambassador to the Dominican Republic, W. Tapley Bennett Jr., who has just been "banished" to our Embassy in Lisbon, Portugal. They had to go in order to prove LBJ's willingness to follow a cooperative "middle way" course. The irony is that the whole business has resulted in an unopposed victory for Balaguer, who would have been welcomed by Mann and Bennett and they still been around to congratulate him in an official capacity.

Now that Balaguer has won, the U.S. cannot afford to let him down. For if the new regime in Dominica can't deliver on the promise of a better life under stable conditions, the 8,000 weapons that have been stashed away by the local Castroites, Maoists and Soviet partisans may yet be brought out of hiding. Money will be spent in Dominica to give substance to Balaguer's victory. Whether the money will be spent wisely is another story, and one that is worth a separate column. THE WELL CHILD

Cross-Eyed Children Need Early Treatment

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Every baby who looks in two directions at once is not cross-eyed. It takes a child about six months to learn to focus on an object with both eyes. If this habit has not been formed by that time he will probably need help and the sooner it is given the better the end result.

When both eyes do not focus on a single point, the brain receives two images. Since we are not birds, for whom this type of vision is normal, we tend to ignore one image and concentrate on the other. This weakens the ability to see of the eye with the ignored image.

When this condition is allowed to progress until a child is 6, the chances of saving the sight in the weak eye are poor and yet this type of preventable one-sided blindness is still all too common. Here are some of the things to watch for in your preschool child: persistent tilting of the head to one side, frowning or squinting, rubbing the eyes, shutting or covering one eye, holding picture book too close, persistent blinking, unusual eye movements, stumbling over low objects, avoidance of light and redness or watering of the eyes.

A simple test for crossed eyes is to have your child look at you in the eye, then quickly cover one eye. If the other eye shifts to focus on you the child is cross-eyed. If it does not shift this may be the dominant eye so repeat the maneuver covering the eye not previously covered. If the degree of crossing is so mild you can detect it only by this test there is a good chance that it can be corrected without an operation.

Your eye doctor can block the vision in the good eye for a week or two at a time to strengthen the vision in the weaker eye. This type of treatment may have to be continued for five or six months, but if the weakness has not been corrected after six months this treatment should be abandoned. Surgery may or may not then be required.

The important thing to remember is that a 6-month-old child is not too young to have an examination for crossed eyes. In any case it should be done before he is 3 years old and the examination should be repeated every year until he starts school.

Q—Is it harmful for a child of preschool age to drink chocolate milk instead of whole milk?

A—Since such a child is likely to get too much sugar and not enough fat, whole milk would be better for him.

renewed speculation as to why people are so reluctant to involve themselves.

That would be a good thing. It is a matter we need to probe as deeply as we can. It is not going too far to say that when we have a sound answer to that question we will be well on the way to understanding an old, old problem that goes back at least to the time when Cain asked, "Am I my brother's keeper?"

The Judeo-Christian answer has always been "Yes." That was the answer of the young garage mechanic who did go to the boy's aid. It is the saving grace of humanity that there are generally some who do not stand by, uninvolved, but step forward to give what help they can.

"Quick, Medic, the Band-aids!"

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There's an 'unreality' about student marching and protesting against student deferments.

If the student doesn't think he should be deferred he has no problem. He can keep from having a deferment simply by applying for one. No one forces a deferment on him.

If he already has applied for and received a deferment, he may ask to have it canceled.

He can even go further and volunteer for military duty.

THERE'S A HARSH SURPRISE likely in store for most hardworking students at any campuses where protesters succeed in getting college officials not to report class standings.

A physically fit student who is not a parent is normally 1A unless he secures deferment. He receives that deferment only by convincing his local draft board that he personally should be deferred in the national interest. Convincing requires proof.

Most local draft boards up to now have accepted as sufficient for deferment a statement from a youth's college that he is a full time student doing satisfactory work.

BUT IF DRAFT CALLS CONTINUE HIGH and run at 30,000 to 40,000 a month or more, regularly — then draft boards obviously are going to have to find more young men. They'll have to go tougher on college student deferments.

Each student application for deferment is decided individually. While each local draft board makes its own decisions, it obviously must make those decisions in each case on what's in the student's file in its office.

If that file shows nothing about where a student rates in his class, the board is likely to assume this means the young man rates low. Otherwise he'd have gotten his college to send in his class standing.

In the absence of his class standing report, therefore, the local board is probably going to refuse his deferment, unless he has taken the college qualification test and done well.

IF A STUDENT has not taken the college qualification examination and if there's nothing in his file about class standing, his board has little or nothing on which to base a deferment when comparing him with other full-time students doing satisfactory work.

Thus if a college doesn't send in a young man's class standing, or if a young man doesn't secure it from his college and send it in himself, no one is hurt except the young man.

The lack of the class standing report doesn't slow up the work of the draft board. It doesn't prevent the young man from being drafted. It may mean he'll be drafted when he wouldn't be otherwise.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Speaking of Presidents of the United States, I am always conscious of their august position. Herbert Hoover, contrary to his public image, could tell a droll story. John F. Kennedy, listening, was a sentence ahead of the speaker. Dwight D. Eisenhower could tell whether news was good or bad by watching an assistant sit. Lyndon B. Johnson is a family kissing bug.

Hoover, who was deaf, told me a story about being invited to the 1956 Republican Convention in San Francisco. He spooned his cream of chicken soup slowly and he said: "The 1956 convention. Oh, yes. That was the day of the autograph." I said "What autograph, Chief?" He said: "I was at the bottom of the ramp. Two Secret Service men were ready to propel me up into the spotlight. A pretty young lady asked for my autograph."

He went back to his soup. I waited. "So," he said, "the band was playing 'Hail to the Chief,' and I told her I had to get up that ramp. If she had a pencil and paper, I told her, I would inscribe my name." He shook his head. "She didn't have them."

I waited. "I told her I had a pen. She look worried and lifted her dress. 'Would you autograph my slip?' she said." Back to the soup. I waited. Nothing happened. I knew I was playing straight man to a President, so I said: "Well, did you?" His old blue eyes twinkled at me. "Of course, I did," he said. "How many chances does a man of 85 get?"

President Kennedy and I talked of Ireland. His family and mine came from County Wexford. He showed me some framed and bound mementos of his trip to the Old Sod. When I said: "My father's people came—" he said "—from Innescorry?" Right. When I said I went there one November and—he nodded and said "—you found it damn and chilly?" Disagreeable? Right. Still, I said, the Irish are all right in—"Boston?" he said.

The young man had a charm matched only by Cary Grant. He masked his impatience with life very well until he got an animated conversation. Then, it seemed, he was always one thought ahead of the speaker.

Dwight Eisenhower used to sit at his desk reading and, now and then, he would walk into his secretary's office like a small boy and say: "Got any work for me?" Once, when he and Jim Hagerty and I sat in the President's office, Mr. Eisenhower said he enjoyed watching General Persons, his assistant, or Secretary of State Dulles come in.

"I watch the way they come to the desk. Before they have anything to say, I know whether the news is good or bad. If they sit lounging, they're going to kill time with a long story. If they sit on the edge of the chair, knees together, the news is tense. If they squat quickly with only one hip on the chair, I feel worried before they speak. If they don't sit at all but just grab the back of the chair—watch out!"

Lyndon Johnson, who has no time for jokes, golf, tennis or any sport except dominoes and bowling with his wife, will pause in swift stride only if he sees one of his girls. Then he stops, folds her in his arms, and kisses her somewhere between the back of the cheek and the ear. He won't go down to his office without kissing Mrs. Johnson goodbye.

Once, on the Honey Fitz, the gracious and self-effacing First Lady was alone at the rail, watching the foamy water go by. I was in a position aft where I could see her, but no one else could. The President snatched me behind her, put his arms around his tiny wife, and kissed her soundly. I turned away.

I don't know why I was impressed. It is normal for a man to love his wife. Maybe it isn't normal, after so many years, to show it. Mrs. Johnson thinks pretty. When Lynda said that she had seen a movie called An Affair to Remember (a story about two persons engaged to others who met on a ship and fall in love), Mrs. Johnson appeared to be shocked.

Lynda knows that her mother loves Gunsmoke, so she arched a brow and said: "Jim Arness is divorced." Mrs. Johnson said:

"Now that's all right. Just as long as he's kind to Miss Kitty."

The funniest Johnson story is one he doesn't know. When he first took office, he had to get to know a lot of people in a hurry. The comptroller of the currency arrived at 11 a. m. for an 11:30 appointment. The ushers thought he was supposed to be present at the signing of a bill, so they swept him inside.

He saw the signing and, immediately after, was swept out with the Representatives and Senators. When he got beyond the west gate, he said to the police: "You're going to have to let me in again. I must see the President!"

GOVERNOR CLINTON RENOVATION — Paul Coons, manager of Governor Clinton Hotel, checks specifications with Clarence Burger during process of major renovation at popular local hotel. Remodeling project is to make way for moving in of Hertz, Newmark and Warner brokerage firm, formerly of 37 John Street. Overall renovation program calls for construction of new "Governor's Tavern" on site of former Academy Dining Room, remodeling of cocktail lounge and entire lower facade, air-conditioning, carpet installation, lower ceilings and use of artifacts to tie in with traditional Colonial atmosphere. Renovation is augmented by refurbishing of rest of hotel, which now has 60 air conditioned rooms. Gov. Clinton Hotel Renovation Plan Is Now Underway tourists and conventions, is undergoing a major "face lifting" and renovation program, it was announced today.

The Governor Clinton Hotel, a major landmark in Kingston and host to permanent guests,

N. Janssen Fowler, president of the hotel, said that a new restaurant to be known as "The Governor's Tavern" is already undergoing construction on the site of the former Academy Dining Room.

Rodney Johnston, decorator from the firm of Walter M. Ballard Company, of New York City, has been retained to plan and coordinate the layout and design, which emphasize the Colonial theme of the Kingston area and the Governor Clinton tradition.

Included in the plans for the restaurant are carpet installation in the entire area; lowering of the ceiling with acoustical tile; remodeling and installation of an exterior entrance with a vestibule, and the use of various artifacts and traditional decorative pieces. The menu in the Tavern will feature at lunch time, The Groanin' Board, where one can make a variety of sandwiches of his or her choice. Dinner will feature prime ribs and 18 other specialties. Hours of operation will be from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Additional work will be done in the present cocktail lounge to tie the dining room and lounge into one tavern atmosphere. Beyond the restaurant construction, remodeling work is underway prior to the moving in of the brokerage firm of Hertz, Newmark and Warner, formerly of 37 John Street. Modern up-to-date electronic brokerage operations, with instant Wall Street communication and information available will be the theme of this business, managed by David Hoffman.

The entire lower facade of the hotel is being painted a Colonial brown to emphasize the tradition area history. Installation of air conditioning has been completed in the Garden Lounge, a private party room. Over the past year, 50 rooms at the hotel have been painted and papered; 35 have been newly carpeted, and 25 new air conditioning units have been installed, bringing the current total to 60 air conditioned rooms. This extensive renovation is being pursued at an accelerated rate, with the intention of eventually redoing all public areas, Fowler said. General contractor for the work is the firm of Slover, Jansen and Schline, with Joe E. O'Connor, Inc., as electrical contractor. Other new tenants in the building include The Ulster County Community Chest and the Ulster County Republican Committee.

The Governor Clinton is managed by Wayfarer Inns, Inc., of Rhinebeck.

20,000-Acre Brush Fire at Santa Barbara

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Fifteen hundred fire fighters were in virtual hand-to-hand combat today against a 20,000-acre brush and pine fire which threatened the bathing area of the nearly extinct California condors in Los Padres National Forest.

"It is strictly a hand-to-hand show," said U.S. Forest Service officer Ray Dalton. "There are steep bluffs, big canyons. The wind is coming from the east, which makes it dangerous." Towering clouds of smoke cast an orange-tinted pall over the seaside resort town of Santa Barbara, about 35 miles to the south.

Five hundred expert Indian fire fighters arrived on the lines through the night, airlifted from Arizona and New Mexico. Other fire fighters moved in from all over California by bus and plane.

Flight coast-to-coast or across the Atlantic will be accomplished in two hours by supersonic airlines of the future.

Push Vote Registration From Miss. March Point

ENID, Miss. (AP) — Teams of Negroes fan out from the Meredith march into cotton plantations today to push voter registration among Negro workers in the fields.

"I'm sure we will meet with some opposition in view of the publicity on the Meredith march," said Charles Horwitz, a white staff worker for the Mississippi Freedom Democratic party. "But we will go anyway."

He said he expects opposition to be minor.

The main body of marchers will be on U.S. 51 again with a goal of making 20 miles to Grenada by nightfall, the largest jump to date.

March leaders are facing increasing difficulty in getting campsites. At Grenada, homes of Negroes will be open to the procession.

To cut the distance from the Enid campsite where the marchers stayed in two tents Sunday night — and to give veteran hikers a rest — a group of newcomers walked six miles Sunday to near Oakland and were returned to Enid by trucks. Today's march began where the vanguard left off.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who rejoined the procession briefly, said they should be in Jackson — the state capital and their goal — by June 26. Their number "will rival the Alabama pilgrimage from Selma to Montgomery last year," King predicted. The Selma march climaxed with 25,000 pouring into Montgomery.

Man Shot in Utah Once Tended Bar In Dutchess Area

A former 42-year-old Dutchess County bartender has been identified by sheriff's deputies near Salt Lake City, Utah, as the man who was shot by deputies as he tried to crash through a roadblock, Thursday night.

The Associated Press reported Philip Russell Holmes, also known as Aaron Joseph Britt, was listed in grave condition at University of Utah Medical Center Saturday night. He suffered gunshot wounds in the head.

Authorities said Holmes attempted to crash a roadblock set up in a canyon to apprehend two prisoners who had escaped.

Holmes, it was reported had worked as a bartender at the Vail-Wolff VFW Post home on Violet Avenue, Town of Poughkeepsie, and also had worked as a waiter at Norrie Point Inn, Staatsburg.

It was reported that positive identification of Holmes was delayed because four sets of papers were found on his person, authorities said. Identification was made by the FBI through fingerprints.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Mandigo of Newcomb.

Police, firemen and troops searched valleys filled with mud and rocks by the 14-inch deluge that lashed Hong Kong for 15 hours.

Bulldozers, heavy trucks and tractors were called in to clear shattered cars and other debris from main intersections and streets, but traffic was blocked throughout much of the island.

The United States has acknowledged loss of three planes in combat with Communist jets. In the raids on North Viet Nam Sunday, American planes flew 77 missions. Pilots claimed destroying or damaging enemy bridges, 51 buildings, four aircraft sites, seven cargo junks, 13 storage and staging areas and a fuel tank.

Over South Viet Nam, American pilots flew 361 sorties Sunday in support of ground troops and South Vietnamese pilots flew 233 more.

Except for the fighting in the central highlands, ground action generally was reported light.

lands of South Viet Nam, U.S. paratroopers, killed 25 Communists in a series of skirmishes as the "Screaming Eagles" of the 101st Airborne Division combed the mountain lair of a North Vietnamese regiment. They have been battling since Tuesday.

Before the paratroopers moved into the area where the North Vietnamese were believed encircled, high-flying B52s from Guam saturated it with bombs.

After seven bombing runs, helicopters lifted a company of paratroopers into the charred jungles, and a battalion of the 101st began an end-to-end sweep of the ridge where an estimated 1,000 North Vietnamese were believed burrowed in.

A spokesman said the paratroopers met light, sporadic fire, AP correspondent Robert D. Ohman, with the troopers, reported they found pieces of flesh and torn clothing.

377 Bodies Counted
A report from 101st field headquarters at Kontum, 35 miles to the south, said 37 North Vietnamese bodies had been counted since heavy fighting started last Tuesday and that another 425 were estimated to have perished. The total of 802 Communist dead nearly doubled the 406 enemy casualties reported by the U.S. command in Saigon.

Ulster Library Lists Activities, Art Show Slated

At the board meeting of the trustees of the Town of Ulster Library recently, a lengthy report from the librarian, Mrs. Walter Burger, indicates the library has taken part in many activities and the book circulation has not dropped noticeably with the coming of warmer weather.

The May circulation was 1104 books, with an average of 44 books a day, the April daily average having been 45 each day the library was open. On May 11 she and Mrs. M. Corrigan, assistant librarian, attended a workshop about new books at the Catskill Library. May 19 the library was visited by Mrs. Frank Mongillo's Brownie Troop of Lake Katrine and presented a book. Brownie and Girl Scout Handbooks. Manager, Oneonta has been presenting a Story-time program on Wednesday afternoons at 3:30 which have been well received, up to 27 children being present at a time.

A workshop for Cataloging was presented at the library on June 6 by Mr. Tuckman from Mid-Hudson Libraries. It was of great interest to all who attended. Mrs. Sarah Townsend of the Port Ewen Library, Mrs. E. Frawley, Mrs. Maurice Corrigan, Mrs. Olav Sande and Mrs. Burger of Town of Ulster.

Two different Boy Scouts are now raising and lowering the flag each day in front of the library. This job was ably carried out before by John Augustine and John Burger. The two new volunteers are James Corrigan and Teddy Pfeiffer. Corrigan is also the volunteer who has mowed his own lawn mower to see that the grass has been cut.

Bruce Burgher and Bette Maxson have priced and shelved almost all the books that have been donated and collected in the cellar. These books will be for sale on a year round basis. Anyone who has books and good odds and ends for a rummage sale may drop them off at the library. All books are reviewed by the book committee, some find a home on the library shelves, others find homes elsewhere.

A display has been set up in the children's section of the three winners of the Science Fair held this spring at the Lake Katrine School. These were then shown at New Paltz. They are the work of Julie Gerdts, Patty Sande and Peter Sutton. It is hoped to have the winners from Chambers School on display also.

Brochures and entry blanks are now available for entries in the Art Show to be held June 25, and 26. Pictures will be accepted at the library beginning June 14. The display of paintings at the Chambers School will be open to the public, free of charge, both days from 2 to 5 p. m. with the winning awards being presented Sunday at 3 p. m.

CHANNEL CH ATTER

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Summer replacements of variety shows with other variety shows usually have the unmistakable look and sound of low-budget programs.

CBS' "Continental Showcase" which took over Jackie Gleason's early Saturday evening spot this weekend seemed to have all the characteristics of a typical summer replacement—a program of assorted vaudeville and night club acts under a vague title. It was made in Europe, where production costs are lower, and held together by an American host, Jim Backus of "Gilligan's Island."

"Continental Showcase" turned out to be a happy surprise—an entertaining hour with good talent, off-beat backgrounds and very good camera work. Did Ed Sullivan ever show the Buckingham Palace guard band playing a zippy, jazzy tune?

In addition to British soldiers swinging in their fur hats, there was an effective folk-singing team from Israel, France's

Says Medical Aid Just Starting

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—The secretary-treasurer of the national AFL-CIO says New York State's strife-ridden medical-aid plan is "only an indication of where medical aid will go in the next few years."

William F. Schnitzer made that observation Saturday before the 50th annual convention of the state's Union Label and Service Trades Department of the AFL-CIO.

He told the 600 delegates: "While there's been a lot of opposition to this program in New York, the program of the future is just starting."

In other business, Samuel J. Talarico of Utica was re-elected president of the state group and Harry Avrutin of New York City was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Newly elected vice presidents included:

Richard Malazzo of Elmira, Marvin Ezzo of Rochester and Martin Berger and Miss Edna Verrilli of Utica.

The four-day convention ended Sunday.

Exempt Firemen to Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Kingston Exempt Firemen's Association will be held on Thursday, June 16 at 8 o'clock at the Municipal Building, 25 East O'Reilly Street. All members are invited to be present.

popular singing star Gilbert Beaud, and Germany's Kessler twins, who have been seen often on American television. There was an unusual version of a "West Side Story" dance number shot in the formal gardens of a Munich castle.

Occasionally the synchronization of a musical number with the lips of the singers was something less than perfect, but that has happened in more pretentious shows made on Hollywood sound stages, too.

The comedy numbers fared less well, and Backus could have been more effective if he had just stayed with introducing the acts.

NBC's "Politics: The Outer Fringe" Sunday night was a about the radical right and left. It moved over an extremely broad canvas, from Gus Hall of the Communist party on one hand to the Ku Klux Klan and the Minutemen on the other.

Between time limitations, the size of the subject and, one suspects, some difficulty in lining up interviewees, the program was not too satisfying. The subject could stand some penetrating treatment.

CBS will follow its "Death of a Salesman" with two dramatic treats next season—Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" and Arthur Miller's "The Crucible." Both will be two-hour treatments.

NBC has signed up the same production team to present a two-hour adaptation of "Othello" with Sidney Poitier in the title role.

"Petticoat Junction" fans must have noticed when the show returned last September that two of the three daughters in the CBS comedy series were new faces. Next September, the part of Billie Jo will be taken by a third actress, Meredith MacRae, daughter of Gordon and Shiela MacRae.

Buffalo, agents said. Betesh, identified as the owner of Empire Linens in Toronto, was apprehended Saturday at the Peace Bridge linking the U.S. and Canada. Piculo was arrested at his home.

Piculo was released on $2,500 bail. Betesh, who failed to raise $25,000 bail, was taken to Erie County Jail. Betesh lives at 70 Cadillac Ave., and Piculo, at 78 Irving Place.

Plans Progress For Circus Here

Plans are progressing for the Mills Brothers Circus, scheduled to appear in Saugerties on Aug. 3, according to Ralph Lachmann, president of Rotary Club of Saugerties, sponsors of the big top event. Peter Murphy and James Dargan will handle advertising for the circus, assisted by Terry Staples. Ernest Blake is in charge of publicity and Clarence Bryden and Gerald Snyder will handle the gate.

Arrangements have been made to have telephones ready on short notice and Dr. Grant Morse is preparing a letter to be mailed with tickets. Following Tuesday night's meeting of Rotary, all members will assist in preparing letters for mailing.

The president announced that all members are being assessed a nominal fee for the Charity Fund. He also said the club's work party had completed assembling five benches for the local beach and these are now ready for painting. Several members of the club worked on the painting following this week's meeting, where visiting Rotarian of the night was Robert Diamond.

Announcement has been made that the District Assembly for incoming officers and certain committee chairmen will be held Tuesday, June 28, in Newburgh.

Distribute 1966 Yearbook at SHS

Copies of the 1966 Sawyer were distributed for the first time at the Sawyer Autograph Day Program held at Saugerties High School on Wednesday. This year's theme for the Saugerties High yearbook is "The Play's the Thing" in which school life is compared to the production of a play. The theme is carried out by means of art work, headings, captions and style of printing. The cover, a reproduction of an oil painting done by Ross Neher, a junior, shows four actors on a stage looking out over the footlights.

The Sawyer was produced under the direction of Cheryl Hulme, editor-in-chief; Jane Overbagh, managing editor; and Mrs. Robert Bailey, advisor. Other staff members who had major responsibilities included Carolyn Gentner, literary editor; Darlene Henry and Shelly Farrell, assistant literary editors; and Christiane Clum, advertising manager.

At the Sawyer Autograph Day Program the co-editors-in-chief for next year were announced: They will be Christine

Korea Vet Helps Save Girl's Arm

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A "smiling and happy" Sharon White rested in Strong Memorial Hospital here today as doctors were "hopeful" of saving her right arm, slashed severely by glass.

The 10-year-old girl's life was saved Saturday, a doctor says, by the quick action of a neighbor whose only previous medical training had been in the Army.

Sharon cut a 12-inch gash in the arm and severed an artery when she accidentally crashed into a glass pane at her home in Seneca Falls, 50 miles south-east of Rochester.

Dr. Emil Bove, the White family's physician, said Sharon might have bled to death, but the neighbor, postal worker Louis Lorinzetti, stopped the bleeding by pressing on the artery.

Lorinzetti, a Korean War veteran, held the blood in check for 20 minutes, riding with Sharon to Seneca Falls Hospital. She was given treatment there and later transferred to Strong Memorial.

A hospital spokesman said she was in "satisfactory" condition today. Doctors may be more certain about the arm in "a couple of days."

"We do have a sensation through the fingers and that's a good sign," the spokesman said. The White family lives on Mechanic St.

R. S. Persons Sr. Dead

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Richard S. Persons Sr., who retired in 1947 after eight years as commissioner of the State Division of Standards and Purchases, died Sunday in a nursing home here. He was 88.

He lived at 112 Church St.

$5 Million for Computers

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is negotiating with General Electric Co. for some $5 million worth of additional computer equipment.

NASA said the equipment will permit two simultaneous tests to be run and will help consolidate administrative and scientific data to support the Apollo man to the moon program.

Plant Resumes Work After 12 Day Strike

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Buffalo area's $75 million commercial construction industry planned to return to a full schedule today, signalling the end of a 12-day strike.

One union, Roofers Local 74 (AFL-CIO) remained without a new contract, but its members scheduled a meeting tonight to consider an industry offer.

Members of Teamsters Local 409 (Independent) and Locals 17, 17A and 17B of the Operating Engineers (AFL-CIO) ratified new contract proposals Sunday and said they would halt picketing, making possible the return to work.

Earlier agreements were reached with unions representing painters, plasterers, lathers and plumbers, who also struck June 1.

Two Named by Local Firm

Ferroxcube Corporation of America, at Saugerties, has named Marshall D. Smith as Product Manager of Ferrite Memory Cores, Planes, Stacks and recording Assemblies. The firm has also announced the appointment of James Robinson to the post of Director of Planning. Announcement of the posts was made last week by R. Klonas, Ferroxcube Marketing Manager.

In his new position, Smith will be responsible for product planning and marketing activities for memory and recording head product lines including product line profitability.

Prior to joining Ferroxcube, Smith was Operation Marketing Manager for Raytheon's Industrial Components Operation. A graduate of Columbia University with a BSEE, he is a member of Tau Beta Pi and is active in the IEEE. In addition, he has served in the Electronics Industries Association engineering and standardization committee and participated in the formulation of the format and basic policies for the Department of Defense's management and reliability program.

Married and the father of three children, Smith resides in Hurley.

Robinson's post is a new one at Ferroxcube and has been instituted to centralize corporate planning under one authority instead of by product line as had previously been the case.

Robinson comes to Ferroxcube from Weston Instruments where he spent three and one-half years as manager, Market Planning. Prior to joining Weston, he was supervisor of Sales and Corporate Research at Cutler-Hammer in Milwaukee, Wis.

A graduate of the University of Illinois, he holds a B.S. in Economics and Statistics.

AD MEN and NOTES

Brief items concerning local advertisers and national advertisers in

The Kingston Daily Freeman

Prepared By: WARREN W. SIMMONS, Advertising Director

MONDAY, JUNE 13, 1966

Did You Ever Wish To Run A Steamroller As A Child?

If you never achieved that ambition, now's your chance to realize your dream. Briggs hardware store and rental center at Shop-Rite Square has one for rent. It's not really a big steam roller, but it's good sized—big enough to ride on, and runs by a gasoline motor. Briggs rental service has bicycles built for two, too. For hire by the day or week. Pieter Paulding, manager, claims the biggest variety of Rental Equipment for miles around. He stocks Air Compressors and Power Post hole diggers, and will rent you a Coffee Urn if you need it. The advertising for Briggs is handled by Sherwood F. Lasher, pictured.

Mrs. Gally Puts Machine Age To Use For Clients!

Want a home? Use the phone. It's as simple as that, as far as at least one local realtor is concerned. Or in this case, use the "record-o-fone." With a view toward utilizing the utmost in modern electronic service, Realtor Bertha Gally, who maintains offices at 277 Fair Street, has inaugurated an "electronic house listing" service which is unique in the Mid Hudson Valley. By use of the record-o-fone, Mrs. Gally sends out to persons calling in, a home listing which provides a description of a different "home of the day" on a 24-hour basis. Utilizing an electronic decoder, the machine provides a complete description of a certain house and property which is up for sale. If the caller wishes, the machine will record the name, address, and/or telephone number of the caller and any message the prospective client wishes to leave. By means of the electronic decoder, the realty office can receive messages from any telephone at any location, thus enabling both the realty firm and the client to use a much more specialized service than ever before possible, even to the point of arranging for an appointment or interview. As Mrs. Gally put it: "It is conceivable that a client can sit in the comfort of his own home and for an indefinite period call this office until he hears the particular type, size, price and location of his choice of prospective new home." The record-o-fone reportedly has operated with success in the Albany area, but this is believed to be the first occasion where it has been utilized in the Kingston area for the convenience of Ulster County residents.

"GOLD'S" In Them Thar Hills!

It was a hot 4th of July weekend in New York City, 52 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gold decided this would be an ideal weekend to take a trip up the Hudson River on the Mary Powell Hudson River Day Line Excursion. Landing in Kingston, they took the trolley ride uptown and started to walk around the city. When they were in front of the Old Dutch Church, they asked the Reverend James Luther Leeper for directions. Reverend Leeper was then pastor of the Old Dutch Church. In the conversation that followed, he told them of the advantages of living in Kingston, working in Kingston, and raising a family in Kingston. They were so impressed by the Reverend Leeper's description, they spent the night in the "new" Stuyvesant Hotel. The next morning they found a room soon to be vacant in the Eagle Hotel (Site of the present County Building)—the home of "Gold's Reliable Shop". After starting with "ready-to-wear" and custom tailoring, Mr. Gold changed to "ready-to-wear" exclusively. Ten years after he opened his shop, Mr. Gold moved the store to its present location at 322 Wall Street and later changed the name to "Gold's". The advertising for Gold's is handled by Henry P. Eighmey, pictured, uptown advertising man for The Kingston Daily Freeman.

Sealtest Introduces Light n' Lively Quality Ice Milk In Variety Of Flavors

A unique new ice milk, developed to combine with a variety of distinctive flavors, is being introduced this month in local stores. Called Light n' Lively, the premium ice milk is available in five different flavors—fudge swirl, coffee, orange-pineapple-vanilla, banana-strawberry and vanilla. The new ice milk is the result of extensive research by the Sealtest Foods Division of National Dairy Products Corporation. A high quality ice milk, Light n' Lively offers unusual opportunities to create desserts that are flavorful and attractive yet, lower in calories. The ice milk contains 23 per cent fewer calories than Sealtest ice cream. The assortment of flavors makes Light n' Lively an exceptionally versatile food and suggests many new ways to serve ice milk. The imaginative homemaker will find it provides a colorful and pleasing accent to vegetable and fruit gelatin molds and salads, and makes a piquant accompaniment to hot and cold meats. By itself, Light n' Lively is an ideal dessert for any type of meal. It is a particular boon to the summertime hostess who wants a dessert that looks attractive, and is appetizing and easy to prepare. Topped with fresh or frozen fruits, sauces or syrups, Light n' Lively makes a festive ending to a family supper or the most elegant white-tie dinner. The superior quality of the product can complement either a fanciful ice milk bombe or that traditional piece of resistance, baked Alaska. Because it is so light and fresh-tasting, Light n' Lively makes an especially flavorful addition to party punches and floats. It blends well with milk or beverages having a fruit or cola base and makes a refreshing thirst-quenching drink. Sealtest Light n' Lively Ice Milk is available in half-gallon containers.

Questions and Answers About Advertising

Q—The other day, a woman called at our home and asked if I would mind answering some questions for a survey being made by some large company that was planning to advertise a new product. Being a busy housewife with three young children, I told her I just couldn't take the time. After she left, I began to wonder if I had done the right thing; but then I thought that my answers surely would not be important and that I'd actually be wasting her time as well as mine. Do you think I did the right thing?

A—Only you can decide. Perhaps you will be better able to decide if you understand clearly that the woman is doing a job that will help her company make an important decision.

Your doubt about your answers' being important is not unusual. It's like the feeling so many of us have at voting time, when we can't see how our vote can have any effect. But when we stop to think, we realize that the fewer the people who go to the polls to register their choices, the less chance there is for a majority expression by the voters.

The same is true of surveys. Their aim is to get answers that will reflect opinions of a representative sample of housewives like you. The answers you and hundreds of women give may often mean the success or failure of a new product.

Let's suppose the product is a floor wax that is "easier to apply," "dries faster," "lasts longer." All three qualities are appealing. But if the manufacturer doesn't know ahead of time which is the most important, "dries faster" or "easier to apply" might be emphasized instead of "lasts longer," the feature that might appeal most to women.

Your opinion is important. And if you can spare the time to answer such questions, you'll have the satisfaction of knowing that you have helped other homemakers like yourself, as well as having helped the women who rang your doorbell.

Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

I save all the little aluminum containers from pot pies, dips and cream cheeses. When we have our cook-outs, I fill these with individual servings of scalloped potatoes, baked beans, vegetables or whatever else may be used, then set them someplace on the grill to be kept piping hot until served. They also are dandies for tossed salads placed at each plate, and oh, so handy and wonderful to serve that delicious homemade ice cream in.

No chance, either, of breakage on the patio by small fry or adults.

Evie Frederick

Dear Heloise:

How can one write on beautiful plastic bottles, etc., with one of those wonderful felt marking pens without having it smear from daily use, and yet be able to change the label?

Dorothy Blue

Dear Dorothy:

The only answer I have found is to use the opaque-type sticky tape!

I always stick a strip of this opaque on the container, write on it with the felt marker (or a pen or pencil), and THEN put another piece of tape over the writing!

I find that no matter how oily the marker is or what brand, it will not go through the piece of tape you have put on. And if you put that other little piece of tape on top of it, you can pick the bottle up with a wet hand and the writing won't smear or go away.

Also, the tape may be peeled off and the container relabeled anytime you change the contents, with no damage to the plastic container.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When the oldest member of our family was recovering from a serious illness, I noticed how very difficult it was for him to feed himself from a bed tray. The regular spoon handle was hard to manage, so I gave him an almost forgotten baby spoon with a curved handle.

Mildred F. Thomas

Dear Folks:

If you want to knock 'em cold some evening when you have company, try serving whole, chilled, refrigerated strawberries which have been put on toothpicks!

Have three little dishes standing nearby with whipped cream, powdered sugar or sour cream. Watch your guests "dip away."

These are delicious when served plain with the side dishes of dip, or rolled in powdered or granulated sugar first, then stabbed with toothpicks and put on the plate.

I know you are thinking about the price of a box of fresh strawberries, but they sure go a long way.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here's one for the pet owner whose dog or cat seems to get as much of his dinner on the floor as he does in his tummy.

One of those attractive foam-backed luncheon mats with the Plastic top makes an excellent place mat for the dish for your four-footed friend.

The mat is much easier to clean than the floor, and the dish won't "walk" while the doggie is eating.

Mrs. Cattau

Dear Heloise:

Another nylon net use: I saved the tomatoes in my garden by covering them with net.

They still got sun and air, but no "bird pecks."

And the net pieces can be used over and over again as new tomatoes grow.

Mrs. A. S. Armstrong

Dear Heloise:

If needed, the hem of a too-long dress can be cut off and used to make a new belt for that dress.

Miss Margaret Keppi

Worth Knowing

We read that although man's efforts to purify water go back to the centuries B. C., that the seagull has known how to do it since time began.

Desalting of ocean water will become increasingly important in supplying increased water needs but of course it is a comparatively late technique. However, all the seagull need do is sip up some seawater in his beak, filter out the salt, and drink the fresh water. He has a special membrane through which he filters it. But man doesn't have it so easy.

In the 4th century B. C. Hippocrates advocated boiling and filtering polluted water, so we know it was a problem in those days. And centuries before that the Chinese and Egyptians used alum in tubs of water to clarify it. So we guess there really isn't anything new under the sun... but you will find unusual service and value here!

Negro Managing Himself Well in Firm Life: Report

NEW YORK (AP) — A study of problems company officials face in trying to hire and integrate Negro employees drew praise today from the National Urban League and this challenge:

"Now find out what kind of reception Negroes feel they have received from American business."

Mahlon T. Puryear, deputy director of the league, proposed the sequel to a report issued today by the National Industrial Conference Board — NICB.

The report — "Company Experience With Negro Employment" — concentrates on the problems company officials have had in trying to integrate personnel.

It is the result of an 18-month investigation of 47 leading American companies, financed by a $195,000 grant from the Ford Foundation. The NICB, a research institution supported largely by business, made the study.

Among the report's conclusions:

Negro hiring involves fewer problems than was anticipated. If a Negro does his job well, he probably will be accepted by those who work with him.

It usually costs more to find train and maintain qualified Negro workers on the payroll than it does white workers. Negroes are rated equal with fellow workers in most respects, but rate somewhat low on "promotability" and on "taking responsibility."

Negroes, generally still are being hired for the low-paying, low-status jobs.

Negro workers wish to be regarded and treated as everybody else.

The idea of quota employment — hiring a certain percentage of Negroes — has little support in business.

Among the companies participating in the study were American Motors Corp., The Bank of America, Bekins Van & Storage, Colgate-Palmolive Co., General Foods Corp., Lockheed Aircraft Corp., the Singer Co. and United Airl Lines. Fifteen companies in the study chose to remain anonymous.

The NICB's council — including Puryear; Ralph McGill, publisher of the Atlanta constitution; John O. Nicklis, president of the postage meter firm, Pitney-Bowes, Inc.; Dr. Elvis J. Stahr, president of Indiana University-supervised the project. NICB President H. Bruce Palmer noted in the report that while unemployment for Negroes is still declining, "it is still about twice as high as for whites." About 60 per cent of Negroes are unskilled, he estimated.

South Popular With Opponents

By JACOBY & SON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
A player who takes time to compliment his partner is likely to be popular. South smiled happily when he saw dummy and said, "Nice bidding, partner."

He won the diamond lead with his ace and played his ace of spades. East showed out and at this point South had no way to make his grand slam. He made a valiant effort but it was too little and too late. He started by ruffing a diamond and returning to his hand with a trump. Then he ruffed his last diamond and led a club to his king. East held seven clubs and West was able to ruff.

Of course this play did increase South's general popularity. Both opponents were delighted.

South was indignant. His ire was directed against the blind goddess of chance. Who else but poor South did she punish that way? Who else would find all three trumps in one hand and all seven clubs in the other? The odds against that particular hand break would have to be at least a million to one.

The odds are nothing like that. When you miss seven of a suit you will run into a 7-0 break about one in 200 times. A suit breaks 3-0 about 22 times in a hundred. When you make further allowance for the extra probability that if one man holds all seven clubs the other is very likely to be long in pades, you get a compound probability of less than one in a thousand.

Anyway, South had no reason to blame Lady Luck for his misfortune. Once the ace of diamonds held, he could ruff a diamond with the jack of

Lake Erie Pollution

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — "It will take years to clean up the mess that's been poured into Lake Erie," says Matthew E. Welsh, head of the U.S. section of the joint U.S.-Canadian Commission studying the problem of pollution in the lake.

Welsh said Michigan and Canadian officials are trying to get industries around the lake to The cost is expected to reach some $200 million for Detroit area industries and cities alone, he said.

Dear Abby . . .

Grandchildren's Visits Are Ordeals

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Every year my daughter and her children have visited us and stayed all summer, and each year the children grow a little bolder. Last summer my home was bedlam! The children kept the stereo going full blast night and day, refused to pick up after themselves, ate all day long, and abused our lovely furniture. They partied at night and left the mess for me to clean up in the morning.

They had their teenage friends running in and out, and never bothered to introduce one of them to their grandfather or me. (Their mother said teenagers NEVER introduce their friends to anyone, not even to their parents.) I was shocked to hear the rude manner in which those children talked back to their mother, and she didn't say a word.

If a had treated my elders that way, my mother would have worn out a willow switch on me. Summer is upon us, and I am dreading it. Have you any advice me?

GRANDMOTHER: No advice, just sympathy. If you put up with those hooligans another summer, you've asked for it. Apparently you failed to teach your daughter what your mother taught you — respect for one's elders. For if you had, she'd have passed it on to HER children. And perhaps something else would have been passed on — the willow switch.

DEAR ABBY: I am so mad, I have to unload on someone, so here goes: My husband is self-employed. A year ago he did a job for a customer who lives in a home much more beautiful than anything we could ever afford. After a year, we received a check for this job. The check was misplaced (I thought it was stolen) so I called the lady and asked her to please stop payment on it.

I found the check and called the lady back to tell her I had found the check and to apologize for any inconvenience I had caused her. She asked me to SEND HER ONE DOLLAR as this is what it cost to stop payment on that check!

After waiting a year for our money, how could anyone be so miserably cheap?

HAMILTON, O
DEAR HAMILTON: For people who are miserably cheap, it comes naturally.

DEAR ABBY: You are in error when you say "we all have roots in a foreign country, unless we happen to be American Indians, that is." May I point out that according to the anthropological data available today, the American Indian is also a foreigner, having migrated

Physician Leases Kerhonkson Rooms

Dr. Sol Richard Friedman, M.D., of Washingtonville has signed a lease for an office at the corner of 42nd and Wood Streets, Kerhonkson.

He will have a consultation room, X-ray room, amining area, reception and waiting room for patients in the area. He expects to open his office on or about June 22. DUSO Realty Co. of Kingston, negotiated the lease.

Dr. Friedman graduated from from Africa some 13,000 years ago? Please reverse yourself in the interest of accuracy.

ANTROPOLOGY MAJOR

DEAR ABBY: Why are certain people always late? I know two. A man and a woman. The woman has no excuse whatsoever because she has no job, no children, and all the time in the world. The man is so well-known that when he makes an appointment it is assumed that he will be anywhere from half an hour to an hour late! And he always is.

But he never has the courtesy to apologize or explain. I am always prompt. My time is every bit as valuable as anyone else's, and I resent being kept waiting. WHY, oh, why are some people always late?

ON TIME

DEAR ON: Show me a person who is "always late" and I'll show you a person who is selfish, inconsiderate, and emotionally immature. Like children, they live in a timeless world, and couldn't care less about the inconvenience they cause others.

Occasionally, one who is meticulously punctual will be made late through no fault of his own. But those who are chronically tardy are bound to be immature and inconsiderate in other ways.

DEAR MAJOR: Aw, come on. I would hesitate to label a people "foreigners" knowing their ancestors had been here for some 13,000 years. While technically they may not be "natives," they could hardly qualify for membership in the "Newcomers Club."

DEAR ABBY: My pet peeve is the accepted, though asinine system of seating wedding guests so that the bride's family and friends are on one side of the church and the groom's are on the other.

When the usher asks me, "Whose side are you on?" I always have the urge to say, "Must I choose sides? They haven't even started fighting yet."

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

A reader gave me a large book with old postal cards and I have enjoyed looking through them. One dated in the early 1920's, shows Big Tonche and Overlook Mountain, Catskill Mountains, N. Y. with a car of that vintage on "The New York City Boulevard on top of Ashokan Dam." Another is a double or souvenir folding card of Churchill Hall, Stamford-in-the Catskills. Known then as the largest hotel in the Western Catskills, with verandas extending the entire length of the hotel. I was there once in summer and found it magnificent and people very friendly even in the height of their season. Another 1923 colorful picture postal card is of Eastman Park in Poughkeepsie with many flower beds. We have no end of interesting scenery like the Laurel House in the Katerskill Cascade of the Catskill Mountains another in this collection.

Remember the cozy boarding houses with the pecked fences, one photographic card is of the Mt. Pleasant Villa, Chas. Varga, Prop. One 1910, June 25 card shows the main view of Orange Lake Park, showing the booths. The ladies are in very long dresses and large hats and men have canes and straw hats. One card was sent from Poughkeepsie, Oct. 8, 1914 showing a colorful picture of the steamer, "Robert Fulton." Another card is of the "Hendrick Hudson" steamer. Two cards are of Peekskill, showing a street which looks like our uptown Wall Street. One shows the Post Office and Presbyterian Church, and buildings no doubt were made of Hudson River brick. Have ones of Main Street in Prattville, dated 1918.

Today the penny postal card is part of history and especially with the every changing thruways, cloverleafs, bridges, housing projects. One card of the very early 1920's shows the then new Rondout Creek Bridge, and the Skillyput ferry, or Riverside. The card reads, "The new way and old way," and it is possible that in a few years even this bridge will be a thing of the past. A June 27, 1914 card, some half a century ago, shows the city hall before it was burned. This is a Souvenir Post Card Co. New York and Berlin card and was taken when the trees were without leaves so the City Hall and the Soldier and Sailor Monument and the original old cannons are seen clearly.

A June 19, 1912 sent card is of the Armory Kingston, now known as the municipal auditorium. There is a picture of Christ Church and Chapel, at Red Hook, also dated 1918. These cards were in a book some 8 inches by 15 inches long. It was a brown hard-cover "Catalogue D-1897 of the Peckham Truck Co., 26 Cortlandt Street, New York-works at Kingston, New York." This was printed in gold on the cover. In those days every up-coming city in America and Europe "er" using trolley-cars for transportation and no doubt rode on the trucks made right here in Kingston. Peckham had sales offices besides in Kingston and New York, also in Philadelphia, San Francisco, Chicago and London. This book shows full size pictures of various cars, such as the elegant "Julia" the "Directors' Private car" of Jersey City, N. J. There is an over-crowded double-decker of Terre Haute Railroad Co. of Indiana with passengers hanging on the running boards just as they did on Kingston trolley cars on a hot summer Sunday when it was on its way to Kingston Point Park, or perhaps coming to Kingston with passengers from the Day-line pier at the Point.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Weather is giving the air conditioning industry more concern than President Johnson's plea for restraint in spending by consumers and in plant expansion by business.

On the plus side, cooling experts are basing big hopes just now on Medicare, the education explosion and the complicated technical fields fascinating the nation's industries.

Air Cooling Wednesday
"A temporary curtailment in spending should not substantially affect the air conditioning and refrigeration industry's prospects over the next five years," says William H. Roberts, president of the York Division of Borg-Warner. "The main reason is air conditioning now is considered a necessity rather than a luxury."

"It's not that we question the president's persuasive powers," A. J. Hackl, president of Worthington Air Conditioning Co., explains. "We agree spending cutbacks will be made in certain areas as a result of his request. But air conditioning no longer can be considered a nonessential item, either for businessmen or homeowners."

Cool Spring Cuts Sales

But weather is another thing. And a late cool spring has cut the sale of room coolers while other consumer durable goods were booming. Sudden arrival of hot weather in some parts of the nation belatedly has sent sales up smartly. Borg-Warner says its May sales were the highest for any month in its history.

But the industry is looking beyond the window cooler to the central air conditioner for homes and the use in hospitals, schools, office buildings and factories.

Prediction for 1970

Sales of central units for homes were around 600,000 in 1965, but Trane Co. predicts 1970 will see 1 million units sold. It also notes 75 per cent of all new apartment house units built in 1965 were air conditioned. The Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute adds that 51,626 residential unit systems were exported last year.

A challenging market is industrial technological needs. Chemical, fertilizer and steel companies are using increasingly lower temperature processes. Some call for temperatures below minus 100 degrees Fahrenheit.

Textile Industry Expands

Food processing, the biggest customer of the cooling industry, is still expanding, as are the printing and textile industries.

Sales of auto air conditioners were around 2.5 million units in 1965 and are expected to hit 4.5 million units in 1970.

Growing concern over air pollution is counted upon to boost a sideline of the air conditioning business. Honeywell, which makes electronic air cleaning units, says sales are mushrooming. It puts industry sales at $6 million in 1961 and $20 million in 1965, with a goal of $70 million by 1970 when makers think one of every 10 new homes will be so equipped.

Fatal Shooting During Argument

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A 29-year-old man faces a charge of first-degree murder in the shooting of another man during an argument outside a restaurant.

Willie Joe Wilson of Rochester was arrested Sunday. The victim, Saul Epps Jr., 25, employed as a roofer, was shot in the head Saturday night. Epps was dead on arrival at a hospital.

The cause of the argument was not known. Police recovered a .38-caliber revolver, which they said was used in the shooting.

The incident occurred outside Frosini's Restaurant at 561 North St.

Wilson lives at 95 Hanover St. Epps' address was 105 Joiner St.

According to an investigation by BCI Investigator Roger Gardner and Trooper David Wachel, Bockelmann and Robert Kevin Buchanan, 15, of 16 Apple Street, city, were reportedly target shooting when the .22 caliber Marlin level action rifle held by Buchanan misfired, and as the boy ejected the cartridge and was replacing it the weapon accidentally discharged and the Bockelmann youth was hit in the foot.

Open Recreation Facility June 23 At Marbletown

A new recreation area, Marbletown Park, for residents of the Town of Marbletown and their guests will open on June 23 on a new location on Old Tongore Road near the former site, according to William F. Suepfle, chairman of the Marbletown Recreation Committee.

A newly erected pavilion and refreshment stand will help residents to enjoy their visit to the park. Construction of dressing rooms and toilet facilities is well advanced and the beach area along the Esopus Creek is being sanded and new floats will be provided for use this summer.

The services of Douglas Hunt as swimming instructor and senior life guard have been secured. Swimming instructions will be free of charge.

Suepfle points out that more than 500 children have been taught to swim since initiation of this program by the Recreation Committee six years ago.

Admission fees remain the same. Season tickets will be available at the refreshment stand.

Suepfle said the pavilion is available for all group activities free of charge, but reservations should be made with him. He stressed the new site is the property of the Town of Marbletown and credits the town supervisor, superintendent of highways and the Town Board for cooperating to accomplish the move from the old site in record time.

The Recreation Committee chairman urges the public to help maintain the park as a place of enjoyment for all.

In purchasing the site, the town leased and developed property in the same area on Esopus Creek.

Lobster Shortage

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — There are definite indications of a decline in lobster supply because of lowering temperatures of waters of the Maine coast, says the state director of marine research, Robert L. Dow.

The lobster shortage has resulted in smaller catches and higher prices for Maine lobsters during the last two years.

Swedish Program Gaining Interest

Frederic Snyder, of Kingston Rotary Club, has been meeting with a number of Poughkeepsie industrial executives, who are Swedish in origin, to gain their interest in the Swedish program being presented at the Kate Walton Fieldhouse, Kingston, June 16, and Woodstock Elementary School, June 17. Kingston Rotary Club sponsored the Poughkeepsie Rotary Club.

Among the first to secure tickets for the June 16 evening demonstration here were Mr. and Mrs. Erik Aldeborgh, Aldeborgh, one of the outstanding industrialists of the area, joined Poughkeepsie Rotary Club in 1922.

Snyder presented the Swedish program as a local project because he was received by the Royal House of Sweden when a Peace Memorial he designed was placed in the cathedral at Upsala. The program to be presented by the Swedish Gymnasts enunciates physical fitness, a national program spearheaded by the late President Kennedy.

E. B. Swanson, Swedish-American publisher in Florida, pointed out recently when the National Congress for Fitness was held at West Point that Snyder provided the slogan for the national fitness drive which received high approval from President Kennedy and the U. S. committee. His slogan was, "We must be fit — not counterfeit."

The visit of these Swedish athletes to Kingston is in keeping with the best in Rotary efforts, said Snyder, and will help to continue the bridge of fellowship with 38 Rotary clubs in Sweden, while adding support to a new and useful enterprise of the U. S. State Department.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, June 13, the 164th day of 1966. There are 201 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1933, Congress passed the National Industrial Recovery Act, which has as its main purpose a self-regulation of industry. Labor and consumer interests were to be represented in the formation of so-called industrial codes.

On this date In 1502, Christopher Columbus discovered the Island of Martinique.

In 1862, the French defeated the Mexicans at Orizaba.

In 1940, Paris was declared an open city.

In 1945, President Harry Truman and Russia were to meet to draw up plans for a peace conference.

In 1946, a consistory in Rome voted to canonize Mother Frances Cabrini of Chicago. She was the first U. S. citizen to be named a saint of the Roman Catholic Church.

Ten years ago — The Labor party of Dutch Premier Willem Drees led the field in the parliamentary elections, increasing its majority in the lower chamber of Parliament by four.

Five years ago — Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani ended a two-day official visit to Washington during which he discussed with President Kennedy and other high U. S. officials some of the problems confronting NATO.

One year ago — More arrests were made in Chicago civil rights demonstrations. But street marches protesting alleged de facto segregation in the city's schools continued.

1966 Grape Crops Ruined by Hailstorm

BLUE POINT, N. Y. (AP) — The 1966 grape crops of three large Finger Lakes vineyards have been destroyed by a hailstorm and the loss is expected to exceed $175,000.

The damage was reported Friday by the growers, Warren K. Morse, Ernest Penneo, and James Seymour, who said the storm Thursday night hit about 350 acres of vines near Keuka Lake 50 miles south of Rochester. The damage to the vines could bring an equal loss in the 1967 crop, the growers said.

Now a gourmet dish, turtle meat once was considered only good enough for slaves in tropical colonies.

America's Resilient Economy

The national economy has tremendous resilience. During periods when stocks tumble in price and gloom appears, this is an important thing to remember. Three groups of basic equities have been under pressure recently: the utilities, motors and banks.

American Telephone and Telegraph, the world's leading communications system, is under federal investigation and the stock has been under pressure for some time. AT&T has nearly 3,000,000 owners and when this prime equity sells off $15 a share, it is bound to affect the emotions of a great army of investors. Unwise selling has been going on for some time. Furthermore, holders of big blocks of stock will suspend some of their spending in other fields because of this.

But the fact remains that AT&T is a great growth equity. In 1961, gross revenues were $8,369,000,000. Last year they were $10,997,000,000, and this year they will touch 11 billions. In my opinion, conservative investors should buy these shares now while they are under a cloud.

The automobile stocks have also been acting badly recently. But the news of this industry will soon be favorable and the stocks of this enterprise will rise in price. Here again, nothing can hold back the long-term growth of this industry.

In 1961, Chrysler sold $2,127,000,000 of its products. In 1965, they hit $5,299,000,000, and this year they promise sales of at least 5 1/2 billions.

General Motors' sales jumped from $11,396,000,000 in 1961 to $20,734,000,000 last year. And the sales of the Ford Motor Company went from $6,709,000,000 in 1961 to $11,536,000,000 in 1965.

Unquestionably, the prices of stocks greatly influence thousands of spending decisions every year. For example, an American investor bought 300 shares of American Telephone at $70 a share with precious money. As this is written, he has a paper loss of about $4,500 and many of his summer plans have been canceled as a direct result of this decline of prices.

Prime bank stock prices are in the doldrums. And there are reasons for this. But, in my opinion, the pessimism is being overdone. Banks are paying more for their money. But they are getting more, too.

The best borrowers are paying 5 1/2 per cent minimum to the big commercial banks and billions of dollars of loans are being loaned out at 6 per cent with the loans being discounted in advance. And when a borrower gets a $100,000 loan for six months at six per cent with the interest deducted in advance, he receives $97,000 for his $100,000 note.

Bank of America on the Pacific Coast with assets of more than $16,000,000,000 is an interesting stock for investors to accumulate. And there are a score of leading commercial banks whose shares are attractive investments.

Personally, I have recently borrowed several thousand dollars for a year to buy 200 shares of one of my favorite bank stocks. I think it is $25 a share under-priced in the markets. Don't sell America short.

Health for All

"Easy as breathing," once a familiar figure of speech, may well be headed for the junk heap. The news has been getting around that breathing isn't all that easy in many—far too many—cases.

That fact is reflected in the growing attention being paid by doctors to a group of ailments known as respiratory diseases, or RD.

Some of the most serious forms of RD, including chronic bronchitis and emphysema, are caused by obstructive lung disease. The obstruction is caused by a steady accumulation of mucus and other unwanted substances in the airways, often impossible to dislodge. The patient has great difficulty breathing in adequate supplies of oxygen and eliminating carbon dioxide from the lungs.

No cure is known for these obstructive lung diseases. But medical science has found ways to help the beleaguered patient, who in an advanced case may be fighting hard for every breath he takes. Various devices have been developed to give artificial aid to breathing, and in some parts of the country voluntary health agencies are helping to place them where they are most needed. In several communities the local tuberculosis associations, which fight all forms of respiratory disease, have established "loan closets" of breathing aid equipment from which apparatus is lent to patients on the recommendation of their doctors.

A good inhalator can make the difference between improved comfort and chronic misery. But while providing this service Christmas Seal organizations continue to emphasize a better way of dealing with RD—the way of prevention. Chronic cough and shortness of breath are common symptoms of respiratory disease. Early detection gives the best chance of effective treatment. Whoever has one or both of these symptoms should see his doctor immediately.

Cub Pack 10 Uses Jungle as Theme

Cub Scout Pack 10, meeting in the Ruby Rod and Gun Club recently, used as its theme, the Jungle.

Cubmaster Charles Fowler opened the meeting by reading a few highlights from the Jungle Book by Rudyard Kipling. He pointed out to Cubs and their families that much of the terminology and background of Cub Scouting comes out of this classic. The Cub Scouts wore self-constructed animal masks in opening and closing ceremonies. Den 1 also had prepared a display of jungle models and gave the opening ceremony.

Senior Scout John Augustine lit the Spirit of Scouting candle, which symbolizes the fellowship of Scouting. In a later ceremony, Augustine and Senior Scout James Corrigan, who have been den chiefs in Pack 10, were presented certificates of appreciation.

Pack 10 has received its new charter and this was accepted for the Ruby Rod and Gun Club by Ted Pfeiffer. Cubmaster Fowler also displayed the 100 per cent subscription Banner from Boys' Life, which Pack 10 earned.

Membership cards were presented to the following den mothers and committeemen: Mrs. Jack Chase, Mrs. John McCooey, Mrs. Ted Pfeiffer, William Aumand, William McFadden and Robert Ryf. The following Cub Scouts received membership cards also: William Aumand, Brian Baird, Robert Brueckner, Tim Chase, Danny Daley, Robert Elliott, David Fowler, Chuck Hardy, Brian Hill, John Hill, Bruce Kirkpatrick, Jim Maher, Kevin McCooey, Ronald McDowell, Michael McFadden, Edward Noll, Joe Pfeiffer, Edward Pfeiffer, Kyle Price, Michael Van Bramer, and Wayne Vasilevich.

Fowler conducted the Bobcat ceremony for the following boys and their parents: Bart Farley, George Glass, Allan Williams and William Wynkoop. Robert Brueckner was advanced to the rank of Lion; Brian Hill to Bear; and William Aumand to Wolf. Silver Arrows were given to Tim Chase, Kyle Price, Joe Pfeiffer and Edward Noll. William Aumand received a Gold Arrow and an assistant denner

Production Resumes At Two Bell Plants

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Production resumed at two area Bell Aerosystems Co. plants today as members of a technicians union returned to work, ending a one-week strike.

The 435 members of Local 205, American Federation of Technical Engineers, voted Sunday to return to work on a day to day basis while negotiations continued in a pension dispute. Picket lines at Bell plants in nearby Wheatfield and Porter were withdrawn shortly after the union vote and the company said full production would resume at midnight.

The union struck Bell last Monday morning over demands for changes in the pension clause of a current contract. Company negotiators met Saturday with union representatives for the first time since the strike began and submitted a new pension proposal.

Union members rejected the plan Sunday, but said its presentation was an indication the company was willing to negotiate the dispute.

The company said work on a $100 million backlog of defense contracts was halted by the strike because 2,000 members of

Pat Nugent's Brother Is Butt Of Marines' Barbs In Viet Nam

By GEORGE ESPER
DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP)—Around Hill 22 the other officers sometimes jokingly call him "POB."
That's "Pat's Older Brother," Marine Lt. Gerard Nugent, 24.
Pat is Pat Nugent, who will marry President Johnson's daughter, Luci, in Washington, Aug. 6.
"The only way it affects me," said Gerard Nugent, "is that I get razzed a lot by other officers around here. Capt. Gomez of Golf Company, a real good friend—he started this 'POB' stuff. They keep asking me when I'm going home for the wedding. I don't really mind it. Actually, he won't be home for the wedding. He won't finish his tour here until September. If he were home, he would be the best man.

Under arrangements announced by the White House April 30, the Nugents' father, investment counselor Jerry P. Nugent, will be proxy best man for the lieutenant.
Gerard Nugent is a platoon leader and his unit, the 3rd Platoon of Echo Company, 2nd Battalion, 3rd Marine Regiment, has been based on Hill 22, south of Da Nang.
"We got a perimeter," he explained. "Our main mission is to patrol our area, and we patrol day and night. It is pretty much of a defensive position."

Nugent is affable but firm. He appears to be well liked by his men.
A graduate of Marquette University and Naval ROTC in 1963, he is considering making the Marine Corps a career.
"I got a regular commission so I'll probably stay in," he said.
Nugent said Luci writes to him occasionally and Pat writes to him once a week. The Johnson family sent him a message at Easter wishing him a happy holiday.

Apparently Pat is very busy with his wedding plans.
"I got a letter scribbled from him," Gerard said, "once a week. It seems like it takes him five minutes to write it." The lieutenant's wife, Phyllis, is living in San Diego, Calif. The Nugents' family home is in Waukegan, Ill.

100 Attend Wedding On Alcatraz Island

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Alcatraz, the isolated craggy rock in San Francisco Bay, had more persons on it Sunday than have been on it since the federal prison was closed three years ago.
More than 100 persons attended the wedding of Barbara Hart and John Catelli of San Jose. They were married on "The Rock," one of Barbara's childhood dreams.
Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hart. Her father was a guard at Alcatraz for 18 years. She grew up there. Her parents still live there. They are the caretakers of the island.

Engineers Continue Strike of WOKR-TV

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Engineers continued their strike of WOKR-TV today over a jurisdictional dispute with the management.
The walkout was staged early Sunday morning by Local 22 of the National Association of Broadcast Engineers and Technicians after its two-year contract expired and the dispute over duties remained unresolved.
The strike has forced the station to limit its broadcast time, said James Hormel, a spokesman for the station operator, Channel 13 of Rochester Inc. The disagreement involved

District
67 Wall Street
Kingston, New York
Dear Sirs:
The only items approved by the Board of Education in the '66-'67 budget are those essential to the daytime school operation. This is a statement by the President of the Board of Education and printed in last week's Freeman. President Witthall responded thusly to the only the jurisdictional issue and not wages or pension benefits, he said.
Hormel said management personnel assumed the duties of engineers while the strike continued.
protest by the Kingston City Library Board, against their elimination from the Board of Education's budget.
English, History, and Science reports require research, reference material, and time. Has homework been eliminated from the curriculum? Is depth study possible during the 8:30 a. m. to 3:15 p. m. school session? The answer to both is, "NO!" The Board of Education has misunderstood what is essential in education.
From the active student attendance at the Kingston Library between the hours of 3:30 p. m. to 9:00 p. m., it is obvious that research and reference materials are being utilized. The Library is the logical educational follow-through for a student with a play to read, an essay to write, or a senior thesis to prepare.
A reevaluation of the educational needs of your students should bring a realistic conclusion that funds for the library are an integral part of the Board of Education's budget.
Sincerely yours,

STANDARD SAYS TRY THE ECLIPSE SPRINGWALL® QUILTRESS FOR 30 NIGHTS FREE... UNLESS IT GIVES YOU THE MOST RESTFUL SLEEP YOU'VE EVER ENJOYED, RETURN IT! AND YOU ARE THE SOLE JUDGE!

If you're a "hard sleeper"... who twists and turns... and then arises in the morning still tired and un-relaxed, try the Eclipse Springwall Quiltress for 30 nights free! A luxury mattress for those who realize that superb sleep comfort is not a matter of price, this Quiltress gives you layers upon layers of deep quilting on Eclipse multi-coil construction for firm, yet cushioning body support all night long. And the Eclipse Springwall edges give you full sleeping surface! It won't slope, sag or bunch and provides the same sleep comfort from edge to edge. But don't take our word for it... try it 30 nights free! If it's not all we say, return it without obligation.

ECLIPSE

IT WILL NOT SLOPE OR SAG!
Thanks to world-famous Springwall... with 24 unique patented side supports in every Quiltress set... you're guaranteed a mattress that will never slope in the center or sag at the edge, even when you rest your full weight there. With the Springwall mattress you get posture-right firmness the whole mattress through... you sleep in comfort from edge to edge.

Just one edge support device as in ordinary mattress adds virtually nothing structurally to a mattress. Only Springwall construction surrounds your mattress with strength along the entire edge all around for perfect sleep comfort.

Because the sides are supported and free from sag, the sleeper sleeps right to the very edge. The greater sleep surface of a Springwall mattress allows more room to turn, more comfort and more refreshing sleep.

The pleasures of "edge sitting" were once taken, because supported edges all broke down. With Springwall you can phone, dress or relax sitting on the edge.

We can say it, but when science says it, that's fact. And faster D. Small, one of America's foremost testing laboratories has stated, after testing all competitive brands that Springwall gives the most sleep support.

Doing The Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

HOSTESS DISGUSTED WITH DELAYED REPLY, ANSWER
CARDS NOT THE ANSWER

This is the prize-winning letter chosen this week. A copy of Emily Post's "Etiquette," revised by Elizabeth L. Post, has been sent to Mrs. Ruth Burns of Mahopac, N. Y.

Dear Mrs. Post: My pet peeve concerns the bores who do not "r.s.v.p." or wait until the last minute. Frequently, I'm left hanging, wondering if they're coming, and am tempted to phone saying, "Are you or are you not?" Almost as irritating are the ones who say, "I'm not sure yet, I'll let you know," and again wait for the last minute to respond.

Dear Mrs. Burns: Failure to answer an invitation which has r.s.v.p. on it is inexcusable. When the invitee honestly will not know whether or not he can go until the last minute it is far better to refuse and allow the hostess to invite someone in his place.

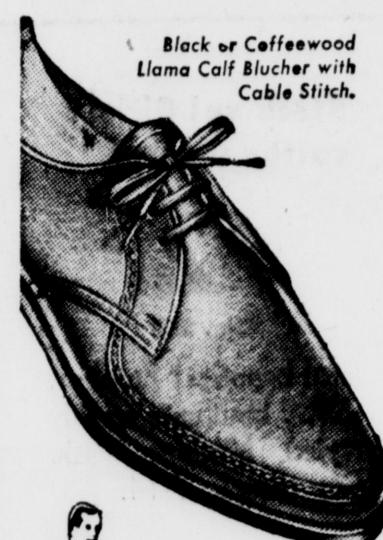

If the occasion is a cocktail party or dance where one or two guests more or less would make no difference, you might call and explain his situation and hope that the hostess insist that he come if he can at the last moment. But if she sounds hesitant or says she's so sorry, that's it. He must hope for a rain check. The fact that so many people are lax about answering invitations has given rise to one of the most deplorable facts of social behavior today: answer cards. People can tell me how busy they are, how little time they have, how poor their handwriting is, or that they don't know the correct forms, but it isn't going to change my mind. If a hostess is thoughtful enough, or cares enough, to send someone an invitation, that someone can find the three minutes (at most) that it takes to answer by hand.

The booklet, "Formal Wedding Procedure," includes helpful information on the wedding procession, receiving line and other wedding details. If you want a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman.

Grapes for Wine

Producing grapes for wine requires exactly the right kind of weather. The vines need a moderately cold, slightly humid winter; a warm, dry spring; a hot summer with a spot of rain during August; and early-morning fog from mid-September to harvest time.

Home Extension Service News

Phyllis W. Barlow, extension home economist, submits the following article on cooperative appliances:

The lady said, "I've owned a widget ever since the first one was made. I didn't need to read the instruction book when I got my new one." The service man sighed and handed over the bill.

The bride said, "I've never owned a widget before. But I read the instruction book and have never been disappointed in the performance of my widget."

And so it is. Models change; operating instructions change. The clue to success with an appliance is in the direction book, but you must take time to read it. Do you know what every knob or control on your washer is for? How often does the lint trap need to be emptied or your drier? Such minor details may make the difference between long satisfactory appliance service or self-imposed frustration.

Write the model and serial number on your receipt of bill of sale and on the front of your use and care book. If service is needed, it simplifies matters to give this number to the service company. Read the use and care book, doing a mental dry run of setting controls until you are sure you know how they should be handled and what they should do. Read warranties and guarantees, returning cards to the manufacturer immediately. Call for help if you need to. However, nearly 40 per cent of service calls are unnecessary and could be avoided if the consumer would make a few checks before calling. Is the appliance plugged in? Is the house circuit fuse blown? Is the water turned on? Is the washer door closed tightly? Is the washer oversudsing? Is the appliance free from grease or dirt? If you've made these checks, read the book carefully and if you are still uncertain, don't hesitate to ask for help. It has been said that everyone is ignorant, only about different things.

We the Women Keep Family Feeling Alive

RUTH MILLET
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Why do some families remain close through the years—enjoying a feeling of belonging to a clan and being able to count on each other when needed—while others drift apart?

In every family that keeps its ties even when its members are scattered across the country there is one member who takes the lead in holding the family together.

He (or more often, she) writes letters, relays news, plans family get-togethers, and in every possible way serves as the center of the family circle, gently pulling all its members a little closer together than they would be without the effort.

The family that doesn't have this kind of leader is like an organization without anyone in charge. It tends to drift. Letters between members grow fewer and fewer. Brothers and sisters who were once part of a close family unit may go for years without seeing each other and for months without any word from each other. And the less they know of each other's lives—the less concerned they become with each other's welfare.

So if you feel that your own family is drifting apart—don't just shrug it off with the excuse that it is inevitable or even kid yourself that it is just as well.

It isn't inevitable—and it isn't good. For there is strength and comfort and security in a family whose members loyalty and lovingly keep in touch. And it only takes one member to take the lead to keep the "family feeling" alive.

If no one else in your family has taken the lead, you can do it yourself. You needn't be the oldest member of the family, or the smartest, or the most outstanding.

All you need is a deep family feeling that makes you willing to take on the job as center of the family circle. In today's often insecure world, that's an important job and well worth your time and effort.

New Hybrid Corn
Farmers are growing a new hybrid of corn only five or six feet high, about half as tall as standard varieties. The short, sturdy stalk lends itself to me-

is not always on St. Joseph's Day.

Defending Champ Cards 3-Under 67 At Woodstock CC

By CHARLES J. TIANO (Freeman Sports Editor)

An old putter brought new magic to Harvey Bostic's golf game, as the defending champion in the Herdegen Memorial golf tournament fired a 3-under-par 67 Sunday at Woodstock Country Club to tie four-time champion Leon Randall with 148 at the 36-hole mark of the 72-hole county amateur championships.

Five strokes off the pace at the end of an incredible day of golf Saturday on his home layout at Wiltwyck Country Club, Bostic scrapped his new putter for a heavier, older model Sunday and proceeded to burn up the village links with a spectacular display of putting.

He carded five birdies, two from 30 feet or more, to post his first round 42-39—81, gave him 148, six over par for the distance.

Randall, first day leader with 39-37—76, was able to card only one birdie at Woodstock and settled for 37-35—72 for his 148.

Cutoff figure was 168, highest in the 16-year-history of the tournament, as gale winds, frigid temperatures and a course that played long and heavy sent scores soaring to all-time high levels Saturday at Wiltwyck.

Dan Gaffney of Wiltwyck, a Boston College student, placed third in the qualifying round with 79-71-155. George Hughes, an ex-champion, finished with 151 and Form Coughlin of Twaalfskill, 153, to round out the top five.

Brilliant Round
Bostic had 11 pars, 5 birdies and two bogies over the sun drenched Woodstock course. On the front nine, he opened with a 10-foot birdie on No. 1, a 35-footer on the 6th hole and a 6-footer on No. 9.

The second time around, the defending champion holed out a 30-foot birdie two on the 2nd, No. 4 hole, then was home in 2 on the 473-yard par-5 fifth (14) and got down in two putts.

He one-putted the first four holes on the second nine. At No. 4 he drew his first bogie when his drive hit the far bank across the pond. At No. 7, he was short of the green, chipped two strongly and missed the putt coming back.

FAIRWAY PATTERN: After the intolerable mess Saturday, the weather man did a complete about face at Woodstock, where, except for a few high winds in the morning, most of the day was ideal for golf. All six champions made the "cut," Clarence (Dubby) Raichle sharing a three-way tie with Robert Carrington and Joe Modica at 168. The biggest comeback was staged by Modica, who rebounded from a 93 opener with 75 Sunday. Raichle was minus 14 with 91-14. Jim Penrose of Wiltwyck, who missed by one stroke, had 93 Saturday and 76 Sunday. Three-time champion Bill Van Aken, who made it safely at 156, was the only player in the 52-man field to bag a par 4 on Wiltwyck's No. 9.

Twenty-two of the 24 qualifiers broke "80" at Woodstock. It was a different story Saturday when only four made it at Wiltwyck. Randall led with 76, Dan Gaffney, Form Coughlin and Ricky Barthel shared a tie at 79. Rich Hilton carded a nice 73 at Woodstock. Rick Barthel showed up Sunday despite a 102 temperature the night before. Next stop is Saturday at Shawangunk Country Club (Ellenville), with the finale Sunday at The Twaalfskill Club.

Marichal And Sandy; Great Pair

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax, who traveled the high road as an entry a few months ago, are going in opposite directions today.

Juan Marichal is keeping Koufax company on the expressway while Drysdale is chasing Sammy Ellis down a one-way side street.

Marichal outpitched Drysdale Sunday as San Francisco edged Los Angeles 3-2 and pushed within four percentage points of the National League-leading Dodgers.

The Giants' ace tossed a four-hitter for his 11th victory of the season, tying the Dodgers' Koufax for the major league lead. Drysdale, knocked out in the sixth inning, suffered his third straight setback and is 4-7 for the year.

Meanwhile, Ellis, a 22-game winner for Cincinnati last season, became this year's first 10-game loser when he yielded an 11th inning run that gave the New York Mets a 3-2 victory over the Reds.

Drysdale and Koufax, who won 23 and 26 games, respectively, in 1965, staged a tandem training that netted them spring tracts totaling $245,000.

Sandy-No Trouble
Koufax, who reportedly received $130,000, is off to the best getaway of his career—with an 11-1 record and 1.40 earned run average—but Drysdale is struggling.

The big right-hander has completed only three of 14 starts. His ERA is 4.36—highest on the Dodger staff—and he's been rocked for 11 home runs.

Marichal, who also held out this spring after a 22-13 finish in 1965, signing for an estimated $70,000 a few days before Koufax and Drysdale came to terms with the Dodgers, snapped a two-game losing streak with his victory Sunday.

He survived two LA home runs while boosting his current record to 11-2 and extending his lifetime hex over the Dodgers at Candlestick Park to 12-0.

Ellis, who has thrown 15 home run balls this season, tops in the league, lost his fifth straight when New York's Jerry Grote broke a 2-2 deadlock with a two-out, run-scoring single in the 11th. Ellis, 22-10 in 1965, is 2-10 this year.

Pittsburgh outscored Atlanta 11-8, Philadelphia topped St. Louis 5-3 and Houston spanked Chicago 8-4 in other NL action.

Syracuse Baseball Coach
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Andy Mogish is the new head baseball coach at Syracuse University, succeeding Ted Kleinhans, who retired.

Mogish, who has piloted junior varsity and varsity golf teams at Syracuse, was named to the post Sunday.

He played baseball, football and basketball while a Syracuse student and has coached there since 1953.

High School Ace At Disadvantage In 'Slow' Trials

By HUGH REYNOLDS
(Freeman Sports Staff)

John Tweedy ran the best time of his brilliant career in the 880 yard event—1:57—but it was only good for fifth place as the Kingston High School speedster ran into his old problem—lack of competition—in the New York State Public High School Association track and field championships Saturday at wind-blown Shea Stadium at West Point.

The "880" had a large field and had to be run in two heats for the finals, with the best time overall winning the event.

John Dugan of Southside High School, Long Island, won the event, breezing home with a time of 1:54.3 which was a bit off the state record of 1:52.6.

Dugan's time was outstanding considering that he was running into a very strong wind. However, he had one advantage that Tweedy didn't have; he was running against the fastest half milers in the state. Everyone in this heat had broken 1:56. Tweedy was top man in his heat with 1:57.1.

Almost Didn't Make It

Tweedy almost didn't run at all. Upon arriving at West Point, Joe Spada, teacher at MJM School and an official at several track meets in which Tweedy had run, and myself went in search of Speed Tweedy. He was nowhere in sight, so we checked with Kingston track coach Bill Hurley, who assured us that he was on the scene and had won his qualifying heat. Still no Tweedy.

Time was running short as the PA system handled by Bo Gill of Newburgh, blared out that the 880 was about to be run. The clerk assembled all the runners including Richie Faulk, Marlboro's standout half-miler and called for Tweedy several times. Finally we found him warming up at the other end of the field, completely unaware that the officials were looking for him. He hustled over and checked in.

Ran in 'Slow' Heat

We talked to him after he had checked in and found a very disappointed young man. "I'm in the slow heat," he said, "it's going to be tough to run a good time. I figured I'd really get pushed down here, but now I don't know."

As it turned out, the slow heat was the same old story for Tweedy. He stayed in the pack the first half of the race and lost precious seconds maneuvering for the lead. He got the lead after the first turn of the second half and steadily increased it to finish first by about 25 yards over his nearest rival. Tweedy's heat ran the first half in 55 seconds flat compared to Dugan's 58 seconds. Officials and reporters were looking for a new state record but once Tweedy caught the lead the race was gone.

A Disappointed Youth

It was tough for Tweedy to conceal his disappointment after the race. "What was the time," he said to us. "About 1:57 flat," we replied. "I should have done better," he said. Tweedy's 1:57 was good for fifth place in the event. The first five finishers in the speed heat were clocked in better time than Tweedy. Whether he could have beaten Dugan, who loafed to his 1:54.3 is a moot point, but at least he should have had the chance to realize his potential. There's no next year for John Tweedy.

Section One, which went into the meet as the favorite, won with a total of 84 points. Section Eight (Eastern Long Island) finished second with 72 points.

Californians Top Seeded
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tom Edlefsen and Stan Smith of Southern California are the top seeds for doubles play in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tennis championships.

Charles Pasarell, No. 1 singles seed, and his teammate, Ian Crookenden of UCLA, were seeded second Sunday among doubles players, followed by South California's Joaquin Loyo-Mayo and Jerry Cromwell.

Long Putter and Unorthodox Grip Boon to Rodgers

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) — An unusually long putter and an unorthodox grip may have prompted a few snickers from the fans, but Phil Rodgers is $20,000 richer and leading the PGA money list today because of it.

Rodgers shot four birdies and had only one bogey in two rounds Sunday as he took a two-stroke victory in the ninth annual $100,000 Buick Open Golf Tournament.

His rounds were 70-73-71-70—284.

The check which matched the one he collected for winning the Doral Open earlier this year, upped his winnings to $57,574.64. It would take a lot more than that to convince Rodgers to junk either the 39 1/2 inch putter or his pendulum swing.

"I think I might marry the putter," Rodgers said after his triumph. His 72-hole total of 284 was the highest winning score here since Bill Collins shot it in taking the 1962 tourney.

Rodgers' steady play—he finished with nine straight pars—proved the difference as third round leader Johnny Pott and Kermit Zarley were more erratic and settled for a tie for second place at 286.

It was the third second-place finish here for Pott. Another stroke back were Fred Marti and Tony Lema. Lema charged into a first-place tie with Zarley during the final round but faltered in his quest for a third straight Buick Open title.

Champion Wrestler Hugs John-John

HONOLULU (AP) — John-John, son of the late President John F. Kennedy, went to a Sumo wrestling tournament Sunday and was given a bear hug by the 350-pound grand champion.

John Jr., escorted by two Secret Service men, sat through the matches and then went to the dressing rooms. He met grand champion Taiho, who picked up the boy in his arms.

In Japan, it is considered a blessing for good health when a Sumo wrestler picks up a child. Jacqueline Kennedy, who is vacationing for a month in Hawaii with her children, did not attend.

MONTREAL (AP) — The National Hockey League swings into its four-day annual meeting here today with the initial sessions occupied by the rules committee and owners' meetings.

Frank Turck Fires Ace at Palenville

Frank Turck recorded a hole-in-one Saturday at the par-3 eighth hole at Palenville Country Club with a 3-iron shot.

Playing with Turck were Bill Murphy, Tony Turck and Jack Dudek. Dennis Beaver also witnessed the shot.

Lee Is Plus Six In Points Play

Jack Lee scored 8 points with an eagle-3 on the par-5, 475-yard hole at Woodstock Country Club en route to a plus-6 victory in the Points tournament at the village links.

But that's only half the story. The big Rotron swinger almost holed out his second wood shot for a "double-eagle" 2 that would have given him 16 points on one hole. He missed by only 18 inches. A 14-handicap player, Lee had a quota of 22 points and finished with 28.

Tied with plus 5 scores were Dick Rydberg, Don Beckert and Noel France. Ted King was plus 4, with Thomas H. Dendy and Dr. Grant B. Morse, plus one. Jim Bernheim and Ken Charlton made their quota on the nose.

Practice Opens

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Official practice rounds begin today for the 66th U.S. Open Golf Championship that starts Thursday on the Olympic Club Lakeside course.

Mickey Wright Wins Blue Grass Golf Tournament

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mickey Wright is going to Canada to make a television film. And the other members of the Ladies Professional Golf Association don't mind at all.

For the 31-year-old Texan practically left a shambles of the Blue Grass Invitational Golf Tournament, winning it by 10 strokes going away.

A one-under-par 71 Sunday gave Miss Wright a 216 total and $1,500 top money. She was below par on all three rounds at the Hunting Creek Country Club course, highlighted by a four-under 68 on the second round.

The Blue Grass' second-place money of $1,100 went to Sandra Haynie and defending champion Kathy Whitworth. They had 220s.

Miss Haynie's 69 was the best round of Sunday. She was five under after 16 holes but bogeyed the last two. Her scores by round were 76-75-69. Miss Whitworth had 76-70-74.

Miss Wright had five birdies Sunday. She, too, bogeyed the last two holes.

Louise Wilson, Louisville, a five-time Kentucky State champion, was low amateur with an 81 on the final round and a total of 240. Two strokes back was Brenda High, Glasgow, Ky. with an 81 Sunday.

Beat Wards, 7-2; Schovel's Split In Two Contests

(League Standings)

Team	Won	Lost
Elmer's Inn	2	0
Lions Club	1	1
Schovel Tree Service	1	1
Montgomery Wards	0	1
Herzog Construction	0	1
Kingston All Stars	0	1

Elmer's Inn is the only undefeated (2-0) team in the City Baseball League, following its 7-2 victory over Montgomery Wards behind the 2-hit pitching of Pete Petrillo.

Schovel's Tree Service picked up its first win with a four-run rally in the seventh, 4-3, over Lions Club, then dropped a 9-7 decision to Montgomery Wards. Bill Dugan led Elmer's attack on Bill Botsakos with four straight singles. Joe Schabot hit a single and double and Brian Bach had a triple. The pitching statistics for Petrillo and Botsakos were not reported.

One Big Inning
 Trailing 4-0 at the end of five innings, Montgomery Wards shelled Wayne Johnson from the mound in the midst of a 9-run rally in the sixth. Bob Beadle and Gary Grenier also saw action before the explosion subsided. Vince Fisher, who fanned 13, survived a 10-hitter.

Paul Butkins rapped a single and triple for Schovel's. Schovel's pushed four runs across in the top of the seventh to wipe out a 3-0 deficit and rout Frank McGowan. Ken Heppner won on a steady 8-hitter.

Come the Collapse
 Working on a 3-hitter, McGowan suddenly lost his touch in the seventh. Dave Horton led off with a double and went to third on the first of three wild pitches in the inning. Paul Giannuzzi singled home McGowan and it was 3-1.

When McGowan walked Chic Boice and Wayne Johnson to load the bases, he was relieved by Ted Bream. Two wild pitches by Bream and passed ball by Ron Valle and Schovel's had it 4-3, as Heppner turned back the side in the bottom of the seventh.

Relief Is What Birds Need Most

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
 The heat's on in the American League—but the Baltimore Orioles hope to get some relief.

With Frank Robinson added to the Orioles' already potent attack, Baltimore was expected in many quarters to breeze to the AL pennant. But a pitching staff that has managed only 13 complete games in 46 starts has left the Orioles in a three-way struggle with Cleveland and Detroit.

Frank and Brooks Robinson continued their slugging in an 8-1 romp over Boston Sunday before the Orioles announced what they hope will be a solution to the pitching problem, acquiring relief ace Eddie Fisher from the Chicago White Sox in exchange for infielder Jerry Adair.

"Our main objective was to strengthen our total pitching staff," said Harry Dalton, the Orioles' director of player personnel. "We now have a fluid staff with two or three pitchers who can either start or believe."

Was in 82 Games
 Fisher, who appeared in 82 games last season while compiling a 15-7 record with a 2.40 earned run average, could start or he could free one of the current bullpen specialists such as young Eddie Waty.

Meanwhile, the Robinson boys continue to emphasize that the club has enough power. Brooks drove in two runs against the Red Sox for a league-leading total of 48 and Frank connected for his 15th homer and took over first place in that department.

Still front-running Cleveland remained 11 percentage points in front of the Orioles by downing Washington 6-3. Third-place Detroit slipped two back off a split with New York, winning the opener 7-5 before the Yankees took the nightcap 12-10.

Elsewhere, Minnesota climbed into fourth place and hit the 500 mark with a 2-1 victory over the White Sox and Kansas City defeated California 4-1.

The Orioles made six victories in their last seven games behind the Robinsons and the five-hit pitching of Steve Barber. Barber, going all the way for his fifth victory in seven decisions, posted his third complete game. Jim Palmer has four complete games—and the rest of the staff has four.

Brooks, who is hitting .297, drove in a run with a first-inning single and another with a fifth-inning sacrifice fly. Frank, who leads the league with 45 runs scored, stroked a single besides his homer and lifted his average to .340, only two points behind league-leading Tony Oliva of the Twins.

Indians Trained
 The Indians trailed the Senators 2-1 going into the seventh but struck for three runs and their fourth straight victory. Joe Azcue drove in two of the runs with a single that skipped by center fielder Fred Valentine and Chico Salmon capped the rally with another run-producing single, his third hit of the game.

The Yankees and Tigers split 50 hits in their twin bill. Gates Brown's three-run homer and a two-run eighth inning built on Ray Oyler's triple and a single by pitcher Dennis McLain got the job done for Detroit in the opener. Five homers, including three-run shots by Elston Howard and Lou Clinton, turned the tables for the Yankees in the nightcap.

Floyd Robinson's blunder in the eighth inning sent the White Sox down to their eighth defeat in as many games with the Twins. Robinson failed to throw home quickly on Tony Oliva's single and Cesar Tovar scored from first base with what proved to be the deciding run.

Rollie Sheldon and Jack Aker collaborated on a four-hitter in the A's victory over the Angels. Phil Ruff knocked in two Kansas City runs, Ed Charles and Mike Hershberger one each.

Quincy Pilot Is Winner in '1000'

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. (AP) — Bill Allen of Quincy, Mass., has a second trophy today, to make him the only driver to win the 1000 Islands Outboard Marathon two years in a row.

Allen piloted his Class D craft over the 100 miles of St. Lawrence River course in two hours, three minutes and three seconds Sunday. His time, held back by winds and rough water, was about 11 minutes slower than last year.

Ray Lenk of Chicago finished second, 22 seconds behind Allen. Fred Andrea of Port Huron, Mich., was third, trailed by Jesse W. Hill, also of Port Huron, and Laverne Moore of Pictou, Ont.

It was the 12th running of the event. Class winners: Class A: 1. Dave Hoggard, Detroit, Mich.; 2. Fred Nelson, South New Berlin, N.Y.; 3. Glenn McNeill, Endwell, N.Y.

Class B: 1. Jesse W. Hill, Port Huron, Mich.; 2. Fred Schwartz, Detroit, Mich.; 3. Donald Voisin, Lansing, Mich.

Class C: 1. J. Nyle Stierma, Inkster, Mich.; 2. Clark Maloof, Quincy, Mass.; 3. Larry Herman, Grosse Pointe, Mich.

Class D: 1. Bill Allen, Quincy, Mass.; 2. Ray Lenk, Chicago, Ill.; 3. Fred Andrea Jr., Port Huron, Mich.

Tillson Man Cited For Drunk Driving

Earl F. Brown, 25, of Tillson, was charged with operating a motor vehicle with inadequate muffler and driving while intoxicated, after Chief Constable Harold T. Bowers and Constable Edward Schmidt of the Town of Rosendale investigated a complaint Sunday night. Brown was released in bail pending a hearing Thursday at 7 p. m. before Justice of the Peace Daniel McMonagle, Town of Rosendale.

The constables also cited Ralph Albert, Bruceville Road, High Falls, on a charge of being an unlicensed operator, according to Bowers.

Hit by Tree Limb

While assisting in the cutting down of a tree on the Jasper place off Hardenburgh Road, Tillson, Sunday afternoon, Wenzel Strubel, 38, of Grist Mill Road, was hit on the head by a tree limb. Strubel was rushed to Kingston Hospital before 5 p. m. by Don's Ambulance. The extent of his injuries was not immediately determined. At 6:15 p. m., the injured man was transferred by Doctor's Ambulance to the Albany Medical Center. An ambulance attendant said he understood that the man removing the tree had a rope attached to the large limb, but in some unexplained manner it dropped to the ground, hitting Strubel.

Vandals Hit Tract

Young Girl Hurt In Auto Mishap

Dorothy Brown, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Brown, of 48 Murphy Street, who was injured in a car-pedestrian mishap on Abel Street near Forsyth Alley Saturday night, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Kingston Hospital.

A police report at 8:55 p. m. said the child ran from between a parked car and the alley into the path of a car driven by Cleve A. McKenzie, of Winter Haven Polk, Fla. She was taken to the hospital by Doctor's ambulance and is under treatment for a leg fracture.

Officers Duncan Greene and Curtis Vandemark investigated.

43,500 Have . . .

missioners have complained that the law already is bogged down in confusion. Meanwhile, supporters of the medical-aid law include such diverse persons as Gov. Rockefeller, a Republican, Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia, a Democrat, and Raymond Corbett, head of the powerful State AFL-CIO.

Administration sources have set the first year's cost at $52 million, with a federal contribution of $217 million. Insurance representatives have estimated the cost could reach $1.8 billion, however.

State officials say they expect about 2,000,000 persons actually will receive benefits the first year, an increase of 500,000 over the number cared for under existing welfare programs.

The income-eligibility law has been the hardest-hit target. A family of four, for example, is eligible with an annual net income of $6,000.

The income standards in California and Pennsylvania, which have similar programs, are $3,800 and $4,000, respectively. Republican state legislators, mostly from Upstate areas, where public criticism has been most intense, have introduced a dozen amendments, most of them aimed at the income-eligibility standards.

Democrats, who control the Assembly, have expressed opposition to changes, including a proposal to establish a plan whereby eligible persons would be required to meet a percentage of their annual medical expenses.

Rockefeller concedes there is little chance for any major change and asks, meanwhile, that the plan be given a fair trial.

The program is based on a section in the federal Medicare law, passed last year, which provides assistance to states to establish medical-aid programs.

The state's medical-aid law has nothing to do with the more familiar "Medicare," which provides medical assistance to persons over 65, largely through the Social Security system.

Say Expansion

expected to be reached when Viet Cong and North Vietnamese losses exceed their infiltration and recruitment rate.

Johnson administration leaders have hoped that such a point might be reached early next year. Some now wonder whether it may develop more rapidly, depending on both military and political developments in South Viet Nam.

Call 18,000 More McNamara disclosed Saturday that 18,000 more American troops will go to Viet Nam in the next 45 days, raising the total of U.S. forces in the south to 285,000.

President Johnson decides on reinforcements from time to time. McNamara's plans call for another 100,000 or more men to go into the country on the assumption that infiltration from the north will continue, probably at an increasing rate.

The total by the end of the year is expected to be close to 400,000 American troops in South Viet Nam. But the orders to go to that level have not been given by the President.

Implicit in this situation is the U.S. willingness to reduce or withhold reinforcements if the Communists reduce or halt infiltration. But officials said there has been no evidence that the Communists intended to do anything other than pursue the conflict.

Add to Strength Officials reported that almost all the U.S. reinforcements now going in would be added to combat strength in the field rather than to base security and logistical operations.

One Communist response to the growing aggressiveness of the U.S. and allied forces, officials believe, may be to avoid contact as much as possible, to hold positions in the deep jungle and prolong the struggle indefinitely.

However, officials who are most hopeful about forcing a military showdown with the Communists and convincing them they cannot win the war, say that the combination of far-ranging ground actions and heavy U.S. air strikes against deep jungle strongholds are making it increasingly difficult for the Reds to maintain security areas anywhere.

Pessimists in the government argue that political opposition to the Saigon administration has knocked out anti-Communist offensives in South Viet Nam's chief northern provinces around Hue for several weeks. They also claim that large areas in other parts of the country are under Viet Cong domination achieving protection by living as part of the population.

Thus official Washington continues divided in judgment on whether and how quickly the tide of battle may be turned decisively against the Communist forces. But the dominant line now displayed by the White House and Defense Department is more optimistic than at any time in the recent past.

Note Fallen . . . is alive and healthy — unlike the victims of Stalin's purges.

Molotov, 76, former premier and foreign minister under Stalin, also surfaced from obscurity to vote at another Moscow polling station. Once known for his granite visage at international conferences, he was smiling as he left the station with his wife.

Ousted in 1957 Khrushchev ousted him from power in 1957 but let him live a relatively free, comfortable life of retirement out of the public eye. Molotov told newsmen he was feeling "not bad" and spends his time "working and writing."

As in the past, more than 99 per cent of the 140 million registered voters over 18 were expected to cast ballots for the party-approved candidates. Both the election and the parliamentary itself are largely ceremonial, designed to show support for the Communist party's rule.

In his previous public appearance in March 1965, to vote in local Moscow elections, Khrushchev took off his hat and waved to an applauding crowd, joked with a clerk and responded to the warm reception with tears in his eyes.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market remained well ahead early this afternoon although profit taking pared some of the best early gains.

Stocks were off and away in a vigorous resumption of Friday's rally and expanded their gains until late morning when traders began to nail down some short-term profits.

When the list was at its best, steels, motors, chemicals, drugs, nonferrous metals and rubbers as well as the high-flying defense and "science" issues were rising.

Profits were taken later in some of the leading steels, aerospace stocks and selected issues.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.4 at 322.9 with industrials up 3.0, rails up .5 and utilities up .3. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 5.52 at 897.27. At the end of the first hour it was up 7.08.

American Telephone opened on 16,000 shares and General Motors on 10,000 shares, both at higher prices. As trading wore on each stock displayed a gain approaching a full point.

Nutone dipped 1/4 to 27 1/4 on a block of 20,000 shares.

the usual "legislative courtesy" of allowing an early vote. Of 10 proposals advanced by the GOP, Democrats have endorsed only three—measures intended to prevent fraud in claiming benefits.

On the eve of the city - tax meeting, three of the major participants cast themselves in the role of listeners.

A Travia aide said the Democratic leader did not plan to offer any new proposals but would be willing to consider any suggestions made by others.

Rockefeller held a strategy meeting with his staff Sunday night, and a spokesman said the governor's function would be largely that of a listener and a mediator.

Brydges said he had no new alternatives to suggest. "I'm going to have to listen to what develops," he told The Associated Press.

New approaches, the hope was that the discussions would develop into give - and - take bargaining.

Brydges said he was standing firm in his opposition to Lindsay's request for authority to impose a city income tax, on residents and commuters alike. This is the keystone to the Republican mayor's plan for raising more than $400 million in new revenue to help balance his $464-million budget.

Brydges and other Republicans, with some backing from Rockefeller, insist that the city instead should raise real-estate taxes and increase its 15-cent subway and bus fare to 25 cents.

Travia opposes any property-tax or transit-fare increases. He favors the income-tax plan but wants to scale down the rates, against Lindsay wishes.

Javits' Proposal Meanwhile, in New York City, Sen. Jacob K. Javits said Sunday there should be no transit fare increase at this time. In telegrams to Rockefeller, Lindsay and other city and state leaders, the Republican senator added that question of a city income tax is a matter of home rule.

"Since the city's representatives believe the income tax is necessary," he said, "it should be allowed."

Javits also said there "is a real claim" on commuters to pay something for support of the city's tax problems.

The three-way stalemate has stymied the Legislature's efforts to adjourn the 1966 session.

In response to complaints of rank-and-file members that they were wasting time at their desks in Albany, Travia decreed last week that the Assembly would work Mondays only — until the city tax issue is settled.

Brydges called this a "slowdown" and said the Senate would not follow suit. But he indicated Sunday night that the Senate might in fact work only one day this week.

"We're pretty well caught up on most other things," he said. The major effort this week, Brydges said, will be Senate action on the 10 medical-aid measures.

All except the anti-fraud bills are expected to be killed in the Democratic - controlled Assembly.

The major bills would appropriate $2 million to reimburse localities for any extra cost of the program in its first year, plus two alternative plans for adding a deductible feature to the medical benefits program.

Under these plans, similar to the deductible feature in automobile insurance, claimants would pay a specified portion of their medical costs themselves and the state would pay anything beyond that amount. The cutoff would be determined by formulas keyed to a claimant's income.

Two carnival workers were arrested in the Town of Athens on Saturday by Leeds state police on charges of maintaining wheels for gambling. Hold Strong Bank Stock For Long Term Gains

Q) "A few years ago, I wanted to invest in a safe, long-term stock. I bought shares in First National Bank of Chicago, which I notice has recently dropped in price. I am 14-years-old and plan to use this money for college. Should I stick with First National Bank of Chicago or switch into something faster?" — M. P.

A) You are a farsighted young man, if I may say so. You own shares in a major Chicago bank, which is strong and excellently managed in my opinion. I believe your stock has come down in price — together with others in its group — because of the rising cost of time deposits. Earnings have been gaining over the past two years and should be up again in 1966.

At this stage of the market, I don't think you would be faster to switch into a faster stock. I advise you to hold your bank stock — a safe, long-term issue — and wait for changing money conditions which could return the bank stock group to favor.

Q) "My savings account is adequate and I have Comsat; General Motors; IBM; du Pont; Pfizer; Standard of New Jersey and others. I know nothing about bonds but have $10,000 which I would like to invest in this medium to balance my stock holdings, as you have frequently advised. What particular issues do you suggest?" — L. T.

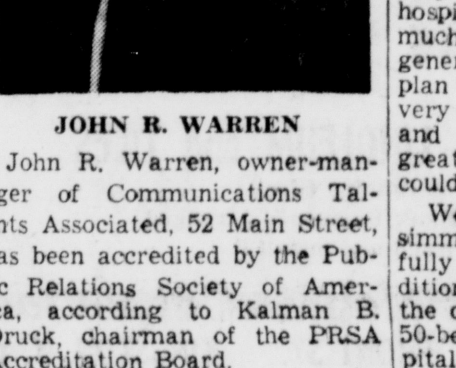

A) It is quite true that I have been recommending a backlog of good bonds, since yields on some issues have gone up to unusually high levels. You must understand, however, that bonds are subject to fluctuation on money rate conditions, although at current prices the risk of any substantial decline appears negligible.

For your purpose, I like American Telephone 5 1/2s of 2001, selling at 98 1/2 to yield 5.20 per cent. I also suggest Commonwealth Edison 5 1/2s of 1996, offered at 100.

Beautification Plan For Poughkeepsie

New York State—with federal aid—plans to use $250,000 to beautify the Poughkeepsie north-south arterial highway by planting 2,000 trees and shrubs at the arterial right-of-way.

City Manager Theodore Maurer said about five acres will be planted with grass seed, and the shade trees will be up to 25 feet tall. Also included in the beautification project will be 245 flowering crabapple trees.

The landscaping will blend into the Riverview 1-A urban renewal project in downtown Poughkeepsie.

make full use of all the existing facilities. Assemblyman Wilson pointed out that there has been some effort made to close the hospital as a tuberculosis facility, transfer the patients to a state hospital and utilize the building for some other purpose, namely an additional county infirmary. Wilson said, however, that there has also been a great deal of local sentiment against such a proposal, and that he agreed the county should maintain a TB facility, but only one which was necessary to meet the needs of the county.

south to the corner of Damen and Division. Rocks and bottles began to fall near policemen directing traffic away from the area.

Plead With Crowds

Spanish-speaking police, youth workers and Catholic priests used bullhorns to plead with the crowds to leave. They were ignored or shouted down.

A rock smashed a squad car windshield and a mass of screaming youths moved toward two empty police cars. They smashed windows and tore the hood off one, then moved to the other chanting.

The car was rocked back and forth, then turned on its side. Almost immediately flames shot from the gas tank. A column of black, greasy smoke rose high above the street.

Firemen Pelted

Firemen, arriving to fight the flames, were pelted with stones as they wrestled with hoses among the crowds.

Police moved back into the area and charged the crowds. A woman and her 3-year-old child were knocked down and bruised in the melee.

Police vans, loaded with officers armed with drawn guns and heavy wooden nightsticks, ranged up and down dimly-lit side streets in an attempt to keep order as incidents erupted one by one. There seemed to be no leadership in the crowds.

At Evergreen Ave., a line of fire stretched across Damen Ave. Teen-agers had poured gasoline and then ignited it.

Several persons in the crowd waved Puerto Rican flags. Fire crackers and cherry bombs exploded.

Another highlight of the evening, in addition to the dinner and installation, was the presentation of the annual Jenkins Memorial Award to Mrs. Sara Mulligan. Mrs. Ruth Sanger served as chairman of the smorgasbord committee; was responsible for the excellent menu. Mrs. Alvin Moscovitz was chairman of the Jenkins Award selection committee. ## HunterPropertyNearMeadow PurchasedbyHowardSt.John

A transfer of property here that has been rumored in the works for more than a year has finally taken place. Deeds recently recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Kingston, dated March 7, show Howard St. John, Kingston attorney and Republican political leader, has purchased "about 28 acres" in the Township of Woodstock from Beatrice C. Hunter, 295 York Street, Newark, N. J.

The legal terminology of the deed ("beginning at an iron pipe driven into the ground . . . divided by lots 8 and 26 of the Hardenburgh plat . . . subject to right of ways along parcel owned by Elwyn . . . bordering lands owned by Woodstock Theatre Corporation and Louis and Alice Lewis") fails to camouflage the location of the site.

The 28 acres described is directly behind the newly opened Bradley Meadows shopping center on Route 212 in the village, and St. John had held an option on the choice, centrally located acreage for some time. He said early in 1965 that he planned to exercise his option but has never hinted at what plans he has for future development. The land just purchased is zoned for three-fourths-acre residential use.

Previously, St. John purchased the acreage on which the 134-car parking lot and shopping center now stands and, as head of the Bradley Meadows Corporation, built a six-unit complex and began leasing stores there in early February of this year. To date, four months later, only two stores in the complex are open for business — the A&P supermarket and the branch office of the Rondout National Bank. The Colonial Pharmacy, which announced its opening in February, has still to occupy space there, although its sign has been up since the shopping center officially opened.

Four Units Inoperative
At one point, during building and construction of the shopping complex, St. John said he expected to sign leases with a shoe firm and dry cleaning establishment, in addition to A&P, the bank and the pharmacy. So far, no further leases have been signed and four of the six units are still inoperative.

While some local residents feel that the shopping center is being bypassed because it is being originally fought by a group organized to preserve Bradley Meadows, and because Woodstockers seem to have a fierce loyalty to old, established concerns, those connected with the corporation tend to refute this. Long-term leases from reliable establishments are what they are interested in, they say, and they are willing to wait indefinitely in order to avoid leases with "fly-by-night" concerns.

The controversy that raged around the building of the shopping center originally centered on the fact that building would spoil one of the last remaining tracts of open land in the village proper. Those opposed to the proposed stores maintained the land should be kept "forever wild" for recreational purposes and as an outdoor studio site for the generations of artists who had painted Overlook and the Woodstock landscape from that location.

Although it had been definitely confirmed before the complex opened last winter, that the center would include a special patio for artists and their easels, no such section was in evidence when the opening day ribbon was cut—nor has one been constructed since.

Grievance Day Slated June 21

Grievance Day, the one day each year when local citizens and residents can officially complain about what they may think to be inequities in their real property taxes, has been set in Woodstock for Tuesday, June 21.

Notice for the hearing of complaints, arguments and grievances was posted last week by the Woodstock Board of Assessors, following tentative completion of the 1966 assessment roll, pursuant to Section 506 of the Real Property Tax Law.

Town assessors Birge H. Simmons, Frank J. Tackella and Fred G. Freitag have completed their tentative assessment roll for a current year and a copy has been filed with Town Clerk Marjorie Harder at the Town Hall, Tinker Street. The copy in the clerk's office may be seen and examined by any person interested until Grievance Day. Local residents also received private tax notices through the mails recently, indicating amounts to be paid, increases, etc.

Hours for arguing against alleged inequities taxwise have been set from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. on Grievance Day. Assessors will meet the public at the Assessors Office, Town Hall Annex, 74 Tinker Street, to hear and examine all complaints in relation to assessments. Persons believing themselves unfairly taxed may make application at that time; should come armed with logical proof and evidence.

Play Reading Group Sets Original Comedy

"Family Night," an original play by Robin Merrill, will be studied by the play reading group of Performing Arts of Woodstock at its meeting Tuesday, at 8 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Noel A. France, 13 Patricia Lane, Woodstock. The author in this comedy of substitutions in three acts and a prologue, telescopes a number of psychological problems into one package and examines them in a humorous light.

Performing Arts of Woodstock studies as well as brings to the stage a wide variety of plays, with special encouragement given to original plays by published or unpublished playwrights. Meetings are held the second and fourth Tuesday of each month and anyone interested is invited to attend.

New Fire Alarms Readied for July

Woodstock Fire Chief Duncan Wilson reported that a new fire alarm system for the entire township area should be installed by July, if all goes well. The chief made his statement at last week's June meeting of Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 at the Tinker Street firehouse.

He also said that the recent smoke drill held at Lake Hill was a success and that some 30 members of the four companies in Woodstock participated. He gave members a report on his recent trips to the Colonie convention and the Green County convention in May, and said nine alarms had occurred in the district covered by Company No. 1 during May.

Captain Bruce Reynolds congratulated the volunteers on a job well done at two recent fires — one at the Poller house on Route 212 and another at Woodstock Meats on Mill Hill Road. Reynolds said the big Hudson Valley Firemen's parade will be held June 18 at Newburgh and that Woodstock volunteers would march in the fourth division. All firemen from all four local companies are invited to march in the parade with Company No. 1.

A representative of the State Police was present at the meeting to explain State traffic laws pertaining to volunteer firemen. He said a vehicle with a blue light is not classified as an emergency vehicle. This color light is only a means of identifying a volunteer fireman and the public is asked to give him the right of way as a matter of courtesy.

The company voted to buy four plectron units to augment the new alarm system slated to go into effect in July, and appointed Peter Koehn, James Kinns and Ernie Koehn to the Fund Raising Committee.

Following the meeting, Victor Busch showed movies of the 1941 county parade which took place in Woodstock.

The local company held its annual picnic last Saturday at the Woodstock Estates, under the chairmanship of Raymond Cocks.

Zena Volunteers Schedule Bazaar

John Cutler, president of Woodstock Fire Company No. 4 of Zena, has announced that the annual two-day bazaar of the volunteer organization will be held on the evenings of July 8 and 9. The gala bazaar is held each year to help raise operational funds for the coming year. Cutler said the continued support of all area residents is solicited in order to make the 1966 bazaar a success.

The monthly meeting of the company will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the Zena firehouse. Final reports will be heard on bazaar plans, according to Richard Moller, chairman of the bazaar committee. All members are urged to attend to tonight's meeting.

Foreign Aid Bill

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee hopes to whip into shape the annual foreign aid authorization bill, while its Agriculture Committee may start work on a two-year, $66 billion Food for Freedom measure passed last week by the house.

The House expects to spend all day Tuesday debating and voting on a $17.8-billion defense procurement measure passed by the Senate with a smaller price tag. The bill has been on the House calendar more than two weeks and its consideration already has been postponed twice.

The balance of the House week will be spent considering bills extending the 1951 Renegotiation Act and the 1950 Defense Production Act and amending the foreign investors tax law.

House committee action will focus on the foreign aid bill, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, automobile safety, a new civil rights program and President Johnson's new antipoverty proposals.

More Production

Last week's production was above normal in both the House and the Senate as leaders held out the promise of an extended Fourth of July recess.

The House passed the Food for Freedom bill, the debt limit legislative appropriation bill increase measure, the annual and a host of relatively minor measures.

The Senate passed a crop disaster bill, a bill to tighten requirements for labeling and packaging consumer goods, a measure to restrict nonbanking activities of banks and an assortment of minor measures.

Both branches completed action on legislation to modernize the system of granting bail to persons accused of crimes.
